Y. W. C. A.

Tuesday's Y. W. C. A. meeting was well attended and was full of lively interest. The leader of the meeting was Mary Watson and the subject was the Seaside Conference which nine members of the local society attended last June.

Ruth Balderee told the society about the conference leaders and the missionary meetings, Blanche Ferdine gave a brief sketch of the evening sermons which the conference heard; Gertrude Holmes told about the social affairs and Bible study classes; Agnes Beach described the last meeting led by Dr. Foulkes, of Portland, and the vesper service; and Jessie Calkins gave a highly amusing recital of the funny things that the girls did at Seaside. Naomi Williamson entertained the society with two comic recitations which she had given at a reception during the conference.

Miss Hopkins, the new State Secretary for the Y. W. C. A., then brought greetings to the girls from her own college, Oberlin, and asked that she be accepted as their secretary. She then spoke briefly concerning the conference which is to be held in Salem the 30th of this month. This fall conference is to take the place of the regular spring convention and the Varsity society hopes to send about fifteen delegates.

Tomatoes of unusual size, growing on a vine nearly ten feet high, attract considerable attention to one of Capt. Brigg's cold frames near the engineering building.

Percy M. Collier, '11, is again in college.

"Weary" Chandler came back for the game Saturday.

Horton Nicholas, '10, and Bolton Hamble, '08, gave democratic campaign speeches at Jasper and Fall Creek on Saturday night.

Several hallowe'en parties are in prospect.

Ella Dobie and Frances Brady were at the Beta Epsilon House for the week-end.

Walter Eaton, ex-'09, will leave Tuesday for the Bohemia Mining District.

Articles lost and found will hereafter be advertised on a special bulletin board in Villard Hall.
