Koehler Talks to Girls

Doctor Koehler addressed the Eutaxians this week on the subject of German Universities." His talk dealt chiefly with characteristic customs and manners and was illustrated with interesting bits of personal experience. The closing number of the program was another enjoyable feature—a medley of recitations rendered most skilfully by Miss Naomi Williamson.

Miss Ethel Scaife, ex-'10, has been granted junior standing at Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts.

Edgar E. Smith, ex-'09, has been granted senior standing at Cornell University.

DUDLEY CLARKE

Whose Star Punting Saved the Day

This morning's Oregonian contains an interesting account of how the drastic new faculty rules for sororities have been received at Washington. The Weekly received a similar report too late to publish it.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton have formed a debate league much like the one of the universities of Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Resolutions offered by the junior class suggesting that attendance at sophomore and freshman class dances be restricted to students, ex-students and alumni of the University, were approved by the senior class at a meeting held last Wednesday afternoon. The resolutions will now be offered to the two lower classes for their approval.
