First Meeting a Success

The first meeting of the recently organized German Club of the University was decidedly a success. It was held at the Tau Pi house and was in charge of Miss Pauline Davis, chairman of the musical committee. After a short business meeting, an interesting program was given. Music was furnished by Miss Lila Prosser and Miss Celia Hager. Later, German songs were sung by all present. A supply of German song-books has been ordered for the benefit of members. The dues of the club are fifty cents per year, and all students having had more than one year of German, are eligible to be elected to membership.

The chairman of the literary committee of the club, occupying a position as reporter for the Oregon Weekly, will, in connection with the recently instituted press service, furnish each week to the German newspapers at Portland, an account of the latest news happenings of the University.

The next meeting will be held at the Kloshe Tillacum house after the Thanksgiving recess.

Mignon at Assembly

"Mignon," the celebrated mechanical piano player, was the entertainer at Assembly last Wednesday. It was through the courtesy of Eiler's Piano House that an exhibition of this marvelous invention was given. Selections from the living masters, as played by themselves, and from the great musicians of the past, as interpreted by modern genius, were reproduced with faithful exactness, even to occasional minor errors. The students were so charmed with the delightfully novel instrument that the exhibition was continued from eleven o'clock until noon, and again for an hour in the afternoon. A large number of town people attended the assembly. In his introductory remarks, President Campbell extended to them a hearty invitation to be present every week.
