

Football Pays $2000.00

Ralph B. McEwen, manager of football for 1908, has almost completed his report and will file it with the auditing committee this evening. Indications are that the football season has closed with a net profit of over two thousand dollars. Abnormally heavy expense this year has cut down to these proportions what would otherwise be a record-breaking surplus. Fifty-seven men had to be fitted out with football gear during the season. The trip to Seaside was another abnormal item, necessary to the success of the team. The Eugene games paid expenses only. The Portland games gave Oregon a gross amount of nearly $5000.00 as its share of gate-receipts. The report in full will probably be published next week.

A Pleasant Party

Clarence Stoddard was host to a number of friends on Saturday evening at his apartments on Thirteenth Street. Mrs. Zimmerman and Miss Gertrude Hamble received the guests, who spent a delightful evening at games. Several new games were introduced, the most interesting being the "laughing-crying game," which created much amusement. In a game of "No yes or no," first prize was won by Miss Vera Sanderson and Miss Fay Clark. Cocoa and wafers were served by the host.

Seniors Meet Wednesday

J. H. Bond, president of the senior class, has called a meeting of that body to be held in Professor De Cou's room next Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

The class will discuss the matter of the senior play and elect a manager for it. Other topics for consideration will be: caps and gowns, class pins, a gift to the University, baccaulaureate sermon and class party.

Y. W. C. A. at Spiller House

The Y. W. C. A. will meet this week at the Mary Spiller House. Each girl is expected to bring one of the Christmas presents that she is making. After a short devotional meeting, there will be a sewing bee. All girls of the University will be welcome.

Doctor Schafer will address the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening upon the subject, "Marcus Whitman and Early Missionary Work in the Northwest." Doctor Schafer is an authority upon all questions pertaining to the early history of the Northwest and his address is anticipated with interest.

A pleasant dancing party was given on Saturday evening by the Sigma Nu fraternity. Although some of the plans were changed at the last minute, the affair was none the less enjoyable.

Mary Spiller Hall was the scene of an informal dancing party on Saturday evening.

German Club Takes Name.

"Germania" is the recently adopted name of the new German Club. Last Tuesday, the club met at the Kloshe Tillacum house. After a business session, the members sang German songs. A number of new members were admitted.

A German Christmas festival is the form that the next meeting of the club will take. A large Christmas tree will be filled with gifts brought by the members, each gift being labelled with a bit of appropriate German verse, which will be read by the person receiving the gift.

The place of meeting has not been selected. It will be announced in the Weekly next issue.

PROF. E. H. McALISTER
President of the New Faculty Colloquium

Faculty Colloquium

Professor Dearborn and Dr. J. H. Gilbert were speakers at Faculty Colloquium on Tuesday evening. The meeting was not open to students. A large number of faculty members were present. They thoroughly enjoyed the two scholarly addresses. An open meeting will probably be held in the near future.

Debate a Draw

At the Laorean Society on Saturday night, the question for debate was Resolved, That the judges of the state supreme court should be appointed by the governor subject to the consent of the legislature and should hold office during good behavior. The affirmative was upheld by Earl Jones, Fred Strong and Cornelius Beebe while Claude Downing, Fred Williams and C. A. Osterholm spoke for the negative. Good preparation was shown by both sides. The decision of the judges was a draw.

Moore is Now a Voter

Harvard C. Moore, '09, was the guest at a pleasant surprise party given by the seniors of the Dormitory at 12:15 this morning, the occasion being his twenty-first birthday anniversary.

Somewhat surprised by the appearance of so many visitors at such an unusual hour, Mr. Moore soon recovered his equilibrium, and enjoyed the entertainment prepared in his honor. After the customary Dormitory congratulations, accompanied by extracts from the Book of Mormon, the company repaired to the banquet hall where the following novel repast was served: Pickles, "pineapple sandwiches," roast chicken a la Trew, shrimps, cookies, cider, cigars. Flashlight pictures were taken at various stages of the proceedings. Those present were Harvard C. Moore, R. U. Steelquist, Don Lewis, A. S. Trew, Howard Harold, Walter McIntire, Earl F. Strong, Jesse H. Bond, Geo. Talbert, P. W. Reid, J. Le Roy Wood, and Earl Kilpatrick.

PRELIMINARIES APPROACHING

allowed ten minutes to present his own individual constructive argument and then three minutes to refute the arguments of his opponents. In both tryouts the speakers on each side will alternate, first an affirmative and then a negative speaker, and the rebuttal will follow in reverse order.

On Friday afternoon, December 18, the preliminary to the intercollegiate oratorical contest will be held in which six orators will be selected to enter the final contest. The orations are limited to eight hundred words in this tryout and should be accompanied by typewritten manuscripts.

The committee on oratory and debate has completed the entire schedule of public recitals for the year and will post a copy on the bulletin board for the convenience of interested parties.

Philologist

At the last meeting of the Philologists the members who are going to take part in the tryout for interstate debate, were given an opportunity for practice. The subject for debate was the progressive income tax. Shangle and Nicholas, Jr., were successful in defending the tax against Nicholas and Hoisington.

In an extemporaneous speech, Carl B. Neal presented a novel and original thought, the formation of a commercial club in the University. A recitation was given by Alfred Powers. Dobbie, Shattuck and Shanton were admitted to membership.

Harold A. Dalzell, '10, has been elected treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. to succeed Earl Kilpatrick, who resigned on account of the press of other work. Mr. Dalzell is a man of experience in business matters and will undoubtedly do most efficient work.
