DORM MEN GIVE NICE PARTY

New Floor is Opened With an Informal and Delightful Hop Friday Evening

The new floor at the dormitory was put to use for the first time Friday evening at a charming dancing party given to about thirty of the friends of the Dorm. The spacious reception room was decorated with evergreens in harmony with the spirit of approaching Yule-tide. A good orchestra furnished splendid music for some sixteen numbers, with the usual number of barn dances.

The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. Zieber, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Prescott. Punch was served during the dancing by Mrs. Prescott, assisted by Roy Keats Terry.

After the dance, a light luncheon was served. This was the first of a series of parties which the men of the Dormitory are planning for their friends.

Calendars Still Sell

The clever college calendars devised by A. S. Trew and Willis Le Masters are still meeting with ready sale. The recognition of the novelty and excellence of these calendars on the part of the students has been swift. Mr. Trew is filling many orders from students who have gone home for vacation and sent back for copies to be used as presents at Christmas and New Year. Alumni are also sending in for calendars, one order coming from Petersburg, Virginia, from a clergyman who formerly attended the University.

Sorority Installed

The most important society event of the past week was the installation on Friday and Saturday evenings of Nu chapter of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, formerly the local organization, Tau Pi.

Several members from other universities were present to conduct the ceremonies. Among the visiting members were representatives from University of Washington, University of Minnesota, Berkeley and Stanford.

There will be no issue of the Oregon Weekly next Monday. It had been intended to issue a special advertising number, but the University authorities, although favoring the plan, were unwilling to give financial aid.
