Pratt Would Play Oregon

Manager Martin V. Pratt of the Multnomah Club football team writes Manager Bill Hayward that, despite, newspaper talk, no contest has been signed with O. A. C. for Thanksgiving Day, as yet. Writing in behalf of the club he wants this date with Oregon for alternate years. He also says that among club members, Oregon has many strong friends. As for himself, he writes, "I have played against the University of Oregon for too many years and have grown to like her good sportsmanship too well to desire a discontinuance of the annual Thanksgiving game between Multnomah and Oregon."

Professor Dunn will Lecture

Professor Frederic Stanley Dunn, head of the Latin Department, will lecture tomorrow, Tuesday evening, in McClure Hall on the topic: "A Group of Caesar's Gallic Chieftans." He will discuss a number of the greatest generals of the author of De Bello Gallico. These generals, who were Gauls, have contributed in no small degree to the renown of the great Julius. Professor Dunn's lectures are always interesting and well attended. The one tomorrow evening will begin promptly at seven-thirty. It is open to attendance by all, and all who attend are sure of a rare treat.

Stackpole Buys Ranch

Harvey M. Stackpole, '11, has withdrawn from college in order to take charge of fruit interests in Southern Oregon. He and Mr. Philip Marion, a Harvard man, have bought a farm in the Rogue River valley and within a couple of weeks intend to take active management of the place, devoting all of their time to the raising of high class fruit for the Eastern markets.

The sophomore football team will have a banquet at the end of the week to celebrate their victory over the freshmen. The freshman team will also have a dinner; whether the two will eat together or separately has not been decided.

C. W. Robison, treasurer of the sophomore class, has appointed the following assistants to aid him in collecting the class tax. Byron Goodall, Miss Welch, Miss Cross, Miss Steiwer.
