

our commerce is crippled by hopeless congestion—"As a matter of fact no independent lines for the service of the producer of the Northwest exists."

Remedy for these commercial blights can be found in the improvement of Columbia River, which drains an area of 250,000 square miles. The work is not local, it is national in importance, and should be undertaken without delay.

We can give our readers but scant idea of Professor Youn's strong article; it is forceful, direct and well seasoned. Those who will procure it for themselves will find it of great worth and interest.

Don't forget the Oregon Monthly copy box. It is set up in Villard, near the students' bulletin board, contributions of all degrees of talent are eagerly solicited. If your production does not appear in print, try again. The Monthly wants all phases of college thought and action.

The March Issue Will Contain:

Article by John Veatch on Chicago.

Ridicule as a World Weapon—Essay—by Jennie Lilly.

Impressions on Reading Upton Sinclair's "The Jungle."

Rugby Football, by Gordon Moores.

The Undertone—Story—H. A. Dalzell.

Win Lee: Opium Fiend Story, by Lindley Welch.