

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Hibbs spent Saturday in Salem.

More lovely weather. Still a few roses in bloom.

Lights are burning late in the office now-a-days.

Inez Coonskin and Dora Gray joined the Estelle Reels.

Mrs. Westfall is around again as blithe and happy as ever.

The lights on the band stand are a great help in going to study hour.

We read in the Native American that they had a fine cantata on Christmas.

The Domestic Science had Food and Food Values for their subject last week.

Mrs. Carthrea has been quite ill. We all hope for her speedy restoration to health.

Miller Collins of Siletz is the latest addition to the eighth grade. He is a good student.

The gophers are becoming too fond of Chemawa. They will have to seek new pastures.

Miss Bowman's grade entertained the classes on Friday. The subject was Bravat.

Gene Campbell enjoys bicycling about as much as any one we know. She is an expert at it.

The Estelle Reels now have thirty-five members and what is best of all not one "Dead Head."

Quarterly examinations are over. They were a number of promotions made from the lower grades.

It was so warm and pleasant on Saturday that fires were not needed to keep warm—and this is January.

Victor Graham dropped off the overland from the north on Sunday for a short visit with Miss Reason.

Several of the Chemawa teachers are stock-holders in the Pacific Oil wells company of Tacoma, Wash. At their well in Fairhaven, Wash., oil was struck last Saturday afternoon. The teachers hope for great returns from their investment.

We understand the "Lions" are to have a big time in town on Monday night. More about it in our next issue.

The Catholic girls and boys sang some pretty Xmas hymns after mass on Sunday. Mrs. Campbell played for them.

Sam Morris and Lawrence Toby enjoyed a game of carroms at Mrs. Campbell's. Who beat? Herbert Campbell won't tell.

Manuel Robles told Miss Bowman's nature class many interesting things about pepper. He used to help his mother cultivate it in Manila.

James Smith stands the highest in the school in his studies. He is in the highest class of the highest grade and made 99 per cent. Good for James.

An inspection of the work done by the Grammar School grade in book-keeping shows some neat work. That of William Mahone being worthy of special mention.

Mrs. Campbell, Miss Bowman and Mr. Williams were in charge of the little folks sociable on Friday night. Mr. Potter and Mr. Scott were visitors during the evening.

Tommy Potter fell and cut his lip, but bore it like a little man. He wants to be a brave boy and showed his power of self control by forcing back the tears that would come.

Little Helen Carthrea in her little go-cart is enjoying the mild winter. The little girls are all anxious to have the care of the sweet little one but Dora Goodell is her prime favorite.

Mrs. Theisz was the recipient of some pretty Indian baskets from a friend in Alaska and from a friend in the Phillipines came a quaint pretty mosaic box made by one of the natives. Mrs. Theisz's friends are everywhere.

The Christmas menu card of the Teachers Club of Carlisle is a thing of beauty and judging from the list of delicious dainties printed upon its pages, it must have not only delighted the club by its pretty appearance, but have satisfied the most epicurean taste.
