

Gov. Fletcher's Lecture.

Gov. Fletcher gave a very interesting and well-received lecture to the 800 girls and employees of Chemawa. His subject "Real and Ideal Life" was handled in a desirable manner by the lecturer. The house was bristling with wit and humor and the Governor kept his audience in a nearly continuous state of laughter. At times he was compelled to stop in order to give them a chance to get quiet so that he could proceed with his lecture.

His subject was full of personal reminiscences and was handled from the standpoint of personal experience.

He treated of the ideal and the real of:
 1st. The young man in search of a wife.
 2d. The experience of the farmer.
 3d. Hunting or in search of gold.

4th. Conceiving a newspaper, or the trials and tribulations of an editor.

5th. Oatery, or stump breaking and the same in R.

6th. Running for office, or the trials of the would-be public officer.

At the opening and the close of the lecture the audience was favored by choice speeches by the school band, which showed that the band has been giving due attention to their leader, Prof. Standen.

The following selections were rendered, in addition to which were several exercises:
 March—Imperial, Anthony.
 Coast Sal.—"The Hoag City," Adams.
 By Chas. Cutler.

March—Grama of Manila, Hamilton.
 Astoria Interiors.—Zanana, Leland.
 March—Greeting in Bangor, Hall.

Massanut Success Club.

The Massanut Success Club held its second regular meeting Monday evening, February, 10th., 1902, owing to the fact that a special one was held on its regular time (Saturday) of meeting.

After roll call the Club disposed of all old business in a rapid manner. Several members of the Ladies were changed, and one was stricken out.

There being no new business the Club Program was presented, as follows:

Quotations (Gull Call).....	Club.
Impromptu.....	M. R. Decker.
Current Events.....	T. Young.
Quartet [xvii].....	Club Qt.
Character sketch—Franklin, the Dean of Yankee Philosophers.....	J. Wallin.

Resolved: That poverty rather than wealth has a tendency toward the development of true character.

Affirmation.	Negative.
A. T. Gillis.	M. R. Decker.
J. Allen.	J. Wallin.
C. Loren.	Wm. Hodgson.
A Trump; [xviii].....	D. L. Smith.

Several of the members who were on the program were absent, either on account of work or sickness, but otherwise the program was very entertaining, and especially the one which Mr. Smith gave. It was an unexpected treat for the Club and it was certainly very much enjoyed, and all departed with keen interest.

The debate was exceptionally good and showed that both sides had studied their parts very well and brought out good arguments on both sides of the question. The decision, which was a tie, showed that the speakers were well instructed.

There being no further business, at this time, the Club adjourned until the next meeting.
