

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Albert Scott has entered the school and been assigned to the Small Boys' Home.

Miss Cartrade Brewer and Cora Patten will play at the Public School in Salem, February, 17th.

The days are growing so much longer, we will soon out our supper without electric light.

The largest boys in the Small Boys Home are reading Hiawatha and beg for "another chapter" every night.

Who is responsible for the crows running at large on all the lawns on the school grounds? Gates should be kept closed day and night.

Miss Claudia Childers of Salem, went to Portland today to hear Nardine. We wish we were so fortunate as to be able to enjoy this great musical treat.

We are not the only "web-foot" in the country. Donald Campbell writes from Stanford University that it has been raining there for a long time. And that in "Sunny California."

Mr. Overman has become thoroughly acclimated as any one can see who witness him walking through the rain using his umbrella as a cane. Nothing of the leader-foot about our Mr. Overman.

Mr. Gumpbell had a letter forwarded to him addressed to Mr. Campbell, Mt. Carlele Indian School, Carlele, Pennsylvania. Wonder what they thought about it back at Carlele. Such is fame.

The school singing on Wednesday was very good. The pupils sang the songs "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Red White and Blue" as though they fully appreciated the beauty and patriotism of the words and music.

We are pleased to hear of the safe arrival of Mrs. Adair and Miss Luciman at Des Moines, Iowa. They were only delayed four hours on the trip. They are now pleasantly located and like their surroundings. Both are well, with the exception of a cold contracted by Mr. Adair.

Boys and girls hurry up and send in some pretty Indian names suitable for the names of a country home.

"If you will notice, the little violets are peeping from under their green leaves to welcome the sunshine." So says Mrs. Patten, who was fortunate enough to be first to welcome this pretty little flower on its arrival, and who met the office a dainty bunch of the little fellows as proof of her say.

McMinnville College has written an invitation for a field and track meet during the spring. Our athletes are considering it, a meeting will be called and the matter of organizing a team will be fully discussed. One of our draw backs now is the lack of a track. We have good material for a foot team and ought to give old Tom Hill a hard run.

We overheard Mr. Staudenmeyer say that he wished he had a smallish bull on the back of his house, to put wood in, so as to get it in out of the wet. Keep on wishing hard, and maybe one might grow up in the night while you sleep and surprise you in the morning. But someone suggests that Mr. Staudenmeyer borrow a few boards and turn it around and puts it up.

Clara Larson of the Commissary has moved his desk from the rear to the front door of that department, and now you have to face the Commissary General when you go there on business, if he is out other wise engaged in some other part of the building. A call bell is also placed conveniently upon the desk and all are requested to ring if the clerk is not in sight and he will respond immediately to your call.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Davis, are pleased to note at Chemawa, the arrival of a small stranger of the male persuasion at their home at the Rapid City Indian Industrial School, S. D. Mr. Davis, who in the present Supt., of the Rapid City school, was formerly clerk and Asst. Supt. and Miss Florence Wells, filled the position of teacher at Chemawa. Congratulations are extended the happy parents by the Supt., and employees of this school.
