

LOCAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

From a Day [Feb. 8] was celebrated every, we will say.

A number of books were provided out and will report next week.

Mr. Thayer is now traveling and expects to be absent soon.

Miss D. the Wiggins is doing some, after a while for her new skirt.

The wooden plank and the table seems to think that spring is really here.

Mr. Budget is making a list of names for the High School of McArthur, of St. Louis.

Emma Fackner, arrived last evening, bringing with her the letters of her friends here.

Neill, Shaboltz, Elmer, Bantz and Theo. O'Brien are making a call for Willie Davis, of Baker, Idaho.

Wm. Budget and Nicholas Lewis have just finished a new set of clothes for Wm. Hines, and will be ready to go, but the work is slow.

The planks placed by the board at the last meeting were so short that they seemed to be working between the beginning and the end.

The Duck Bill Gun Club has not been out lately. While the game is plentiful here it was very scarce, hence the ducks have a time to collect their thoughts.

Elvira Parrish read the beautiful poem by Walt Whitman "Captain My Captain" with great expression at the Lincoln Birthday services. Every word was distinctly enunciated.

From the way Harry Parrish explained the laying of steam pipes to his class we judge that Harry attends to his business in the Plumbing Department as well as his class room.

Mrs. Emma Campbell was the guest of Mrs. Charles Gray of Salem on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Gray gave a party in honor of her niece, Miss Janet Gray of Portland and Inno.

During Governor Fletcher's lecture he spoke of the duck of a hunter as a rule, and when he told he "fastened" his eyes on one of the members of the "Duck Bill Gun Club." We wonder why?

Wednesday [Feb. 12] was Lincoln's Birthday and the day was celebrated by the school. Interesting and appropriate exercises were held in the school both in the morning and in the afternoon.

Mr. Overman says that he is well pleased with the advancement of the girls in his department in making sailor made dresses, and makes special mention of Kay Charles and Theresa Chomow, and invites inspection of their work.

Mr. DeFoe who has gone to Lawrence, Kansas, will enter the University of Kansas and study law. We are sure that he will make a success of the profession for which he has so long trained to prepare himself. An excellent and a lawyer. Mr. DeFoe is already superior to many who have entered the learned profession.

A little musical in Mrs. Campbell's parlor was much enjoyed on Monday evening. Songs were sung by Mrs. Campbell, M. A. Campbell, Miss Emma Campbell, supervisor Charles, Mr. Patton and Mr. Campbell. Supervisor Charles took a very interesting voice and when he comes again we hope the whole school will hear it.

Mrs. Davis, who has been cutting her old friend Mr. Hild, left this p. m. for Portland, where she will be joined by her husband, a prominent politician of Idaho. They will then proceed to Boise City. During her stay at Chemawa Mrs. Davis made many warm friends who hoped to see her later, but hope to see her again, continuing again some day.

Hyman Wattelman is used in work at what (head apparatus) will be a good business, but you cannot always tell by appearance for he might take it into his head to make two wheels and make out. Just like one of the blacksmiths did when a visitor volunteered a guess as to what he was making out of a straight piece of iron. "A fire poker" but by a stroke of his hammer made a hook.
