

The school grounds are liberally covered with sodas.

As we go to press a car load of plumbers' employes is being unloaded.

Basket ball girls played well but had unfortunate decisions by the referee.

Dr. Coleman, the new President of Wilkes College, was a school visitor on Thursday afternoon.

The covering of the steam pipes under the buildings with asbestos sectional covering is being pushed to completion.

Irma Campbell and Eva Woods went to Salem on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Childers, who was the girls' school nurse for a number of years visited us on Friday. All her friends were pleased to see her.

A big crowd of boys and girls watched the train men getting that freight car back on the track. If taking an axwife could have moved the car it would have been an easy job for the train men.

That was a good big load of boys we saw one of the farm teams hauling out of the barnyard one day this week. Some one estimated that they weighed about a ton and a half. A little consideration for our poor horses along those lines might be a good thing.

Miss McCormick of Salem sang "The Holy City" for us in chapel on Friday morning. Miss McCormick has a fine voice and her rendition of this favorite song was much enjoyed.

We had quite a treat in chapel on Friday morning. Rev. Patterson the Evangelist who is at present staying in Salem gave a most amusing and entertaining talk. The Rev. Mr. Ritchey of the Christian church also spoke to us and his kind practical advice was listened to with close attention by our student body. Miss Childers also addressed the boys with a most excellent lecture on the place, showing great proficiency and skill. The whole school was engaged in similar treat in the afternoon.

Boys should not ask the president to excuse them from society after being there a few minutes. It is not the wish of the management of the school that boys should be excused. An order from the disciplinarian is necessary to accomplish this. Remember this boys.

Theresa Claxson who delivered her senior oration on the 14th in the school chapel impressed all who heard her by her thoughtful earnest talk and her lady-like manner. Every word was distinctly heard and her subject "Habits" shown a careful intelligent preparation.

Spring will soon be here and the Industrial Teacher and his boys will find plenty of work, among other things, hauling the nice rich dirt from the lake bottom to make new flower beds with which to beautify the school grounds.

Our new buildings are rapidly nearing completion. The Girls' Dormitory is about ready to be white washed and while waiting on the plasterers, the carpenters and painters are putting the finishing touches on the porches. When finished Chemawa will have one of the nicest Girls' Homes in the Service and one of which we can be justly proud.

Winnie Stockard is learning how to cook. She had good training under Mrs. Hill in the hospital kitchen and now that she is cooking for Mrs. Campbell and learning the way of preparing food for a small family we are sure she will be satisfied by it. Our Chemawa girls learn family cooking and family house keeping.

The carpenters made a fine imposing table for the printers the other day, and passed it down with the expectation of making it what it belonged to. No difficulty was experienced until they came to the bottom, when a little thinking had to be done and the question, whether or not the frame be torn down or the table taken apart, was debated. Finally it was thought best to take the table apart. It was done and now the printers are busy over their new 10' x 12' printing table, and wish to extend a vote of thanks to the carpenters.
