

Van Winkle, one of the best of class, shall hold a position in the second grade during the week.

The 10th grade in the first grade miss the Williams, who was acting as temporary teacher for a short time.

What is the matter? We don't base any more about the T. L. C's. Did they "go way back and sit down?"

Messrs. Woods and Williams were visitors at the meeting of the Reliance Literary Society Thursday evening.

The eighth division of the Domestic Science class learned to make waffles and serve pie at their last lesson.

Mr. Childers is having his pine joints shingled and as soon as weather permits he will begin to turn the mill.

The next concert by moonlight on Monday evening was greatly enjoyed. A number of new pieces were played.

Coning evening out their shadows before Chemawa, well a variable flower garden, if making flower beds is any indication.

Mr. Deane says when Mr. Childers cut down all the cedars at Chemawa, it will be winter early next fall about as usual.

Miss Reed is coming to work in the place. Say, Joe Childers give me a note for your apt in Commerce when we are of the children.

Perry Johnson is not only one of the earliest competitors but is as good as the best one at the pole and making up horns.

The chicken house roof has been painted and the inside white washed, and as soon as weather permits, the outside will be painted white.

John Harris has made him a pair of square deck chairs, out of old nickery. They are now being soaked in oil and will soon be hard to the hand.

A practice game between the first and a picked team, on Saturday afternoon, resulted in a victory for the first team. Score 43 to 10. Lots of fun. Game was witnessed by nearly the whole school.

Mrs. Campbell, MacBroom, Mrs. W. in, Miss Miller and Miss Dixon attended the Kuma N vada concert in Salem on Friday night.

Charles Cutler made some very interesting and sensible remarks to the members of the Youngs Literary Society on last Thursday night.

Miss Reason entertained the senior class on Saturday evening. Delicious ice-cream and cake were served and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by all.

We notice by the latest ditch or a canal will pass near the baker shop. Which will pass by the Charles Regentery fall and through the Jack Bates's rapids.

Martin Wollen met with what might have been a serious accident Thursday. He caught his hand in a finger and escaped with just a good sprain.

Miss Priddy, General Secretary of women's Missionary Society, was at Chemawa at the school, addressing the Sunday school in the evening, the Young Women's Christian Association in the afternoon, and presiding in the church school on night.

Mr. Hennessey brought upon the very old horse, which has been used for some time, and he says he will be here for some time yet.

Mr. Peter Williams and wife spent Sunday at Chemawa, their old school home. Peter is cutting three cords of wood per day, out near Pratum, at 30 cents per cord and Sally is keeping their little hog stable neat and clean. The Auntie is proud of the Indian boy who is willing to grasp a saw and axe and go to the woods to work. It shows he possesses the kind of stuff that good men are made of. Mr. Williams is probably one of the best Indian mechanics and cabinet makers in the country and has worked successfully at his trade for two years at Salem after leaving Chemawa. Work being slackened by the factory he was found work cutting wood and axes he saves more money than when he lived in town.
