

Base-ball Schedule.

- May 12, Chemawa & Portland Academy, at Portland.
 (Portland Academy 10, Chemawa 6.)
- " 16, Chemawa & State University, at Eugene.
 (Chemawa 5, State University 6.)
- " 21, Chemawa & Multnomah, at Portland.
- June 14, Chemawa & Multnomah, at Portland.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Joe Charis is the champion baker now days.

The wagon makers are busy making new pickup boxes.

The prospects are good for a abundance of honey this fall.

Agnes Gowdy is working on a new table for the large boys' reading room.

The harnessmakers received two orders for single sets of harness this week.

James Stanger is making a set of single express harness for a gentleman at Toledo, Oregon.

A backboard and a one horse wagon made for neighbors are being finished by the painters.

The Superintendent's carriage went to the paint shop today to receive the finishing touches.

The Girls' Reading Room has been painted and varnished and looks very nice and fresh.

The two new booths which have been recently painted and are now ready for the end as soon as dry.

Lucy McClint is jilkying Bull matron, she said, because she was doing some work in the flower garden.

The painters started to paint the tower the beginning of the week but the rain put a stop to their work.

Pink seems to be the prevailing color for kalsomine, but the painters say it is cooler in mix than most anything else.

The new federal building is fast nearing completion.

The lowest hays have mowed again which makes them and the many flower gardens very beautiful.

The blacksmiths are making the last heavy wagon for this season. Sam Wrenenthal is doing the iron work for it.

Mr. Puffer said Mr. Smet that if he would fix up the old truck he would loan it to him to go to Klamath this summer.

Mr. Johnson Williams had charge of the yard cleaning force Friday afternoon which was taken up in the industrial work.

The boys have about completed a very pretty rug for the Large Boys' reading room. Who says the boys are not useful with the needle?

Mr. Hodge, the railroad section boss and his gang of men, were busy Friday in cleaning up and improving the track and approach.

Some painting was done in the Large Boys' House, and as it was badly needed it certainly made an improvement in the looks of the rooms.

The lists of the employees' building have been newly tabulated by the painters, and they intend to paint and varnish the stairs as soon as possible.

The gardeners, under the supervision of Mr. Westley, overhauled the bee-hives and cleaned them up and put them in good condition the first of the week.

The chickens are thriving under the able and careful supervision of Mr. Overman who reports a good many young ones hatched and prospects of many more in the future.

AN AMERICAN reporter visited the harness shop this morning and found the following boys stitching different pieces of harness: Wilho Winnier, stitching horse tugs; Owens Howell, preparing bridle straps for stitching; Cyril Marnette, making crumpleless bridles; Frank LaFave, stitching tugs and James Spencer, stitching tugs.