We were gratified when Indian Commissioner Jones consented to remain in the Indian Bureau and work out an Indian policy with a second-term advantage enjoyed by none of his predecessors. We are gratified now to learn that the salary of the head of that Bureau has just been increased from $4,000 to $5,000. This levels it up to the salaries of the Land, Pension and Patent Commissioners, while that of the Director of the Geological Survey is still $1,000 more. The change was made wholly on the recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior without any consultation on the part of Mr. Jones. He enjoys the compliment, of course, but being himself a successful business man, he is one of those who serve the Government from other than merely pecuniary motives. The duties of the commissioner of Indian affairs grow each year more burdensome and perplexing as the points of contact between the Indians and their aggressive white neighbors increase, and hitherto the salary has been inadequate. Having studied that particular question on the ground as first hand, we have not been able to take the same view of the Standing Rock masses which Mr. Jones takes from his office standpoint. Nevertheless, we believe in him as a straight-forward, diligent, conscientious public official, with whose judgment we regret occasionally to differ. But we have never yet found an infallible Commissioner. —[N. Y. Independent.

Portland Academy vs Chemawa.

An exciting as well as interesting game of base ball was played on Decoration Day at 2:30 p. m., between Portland Academy and Chemawa, on our grounds, which resulted in a score of 8 to 15 in favor of Chemawa.

The game was promptly called at 2:30 with P. A. at the bat. It was hard for the P. A.'s to find Rogers ball, as they only scored one point in the first inning. Chemawa went to the bat with blood boiling in their veins and victory perched upon their banners, the boys batted the ball right and left, till they had a force run, but that was when the fun began. Now we got a good whack at the ball and sent it whizzing down in the field, and from the result of wild throwing he ran all the men in and made a home run. This got new life in our boys and they went at it like real professionals, scoring 5 points in the first inning. The second inning was entirely in favor of the P. A.'s. The third was a stand off, neither side being able to score. Some of the boys made a few bad plays in the fourth inning which aroused others' anger and the result was Rogers 5-0 the box. No time was lost in getting a man to fill
