

Pupils' Items.

Rain! Sunshine! Rain! Sunshine!

Button up your coats and keep your feet dry.

They are putting now electric lights up out side.

Call at Dunsmuir Science Hall, for something good to eat.

The sewing class has started to make flannel dresses for the girls.

Alyssa Collins is now working in the hospital and is doing very neat work.

Arthur H. Williams our cook is improving slowly and will soon be on duty again.

Thanksgiving will soon be here and then the chickens and turkeys will suffer.

Father Huley of Selma visited Chemawa Tuesday evening and dined with Capt. Puffer.

Mrs. Thoms is getting along very nicely with her new girls and also the rest of the girls. She was busy Tuesday mending the stairs which makes the girls feel proud.

One of the first men that came to Chemawa gave us a little speech the other evening.

Mattie is one of the cooks at the hospital and we hope she will succeed in being a good cook.

Found:—The true meaning of the word "difficult" inspire of Miss Bowman after school hours.

Rev. St. Pierre spoke to the pupils last evening about his trip from New York to Constantinople.

I often think of the pleasant day I spent on my way to Chemawa. It is nearly month since I left California.

The sewing room girls all like to work hard because they want to be good dress makers when they go back home.

Misses Besmer, Bagwell and Hutchinson drove across Pudding River and spent Sunday night sailing in Silverton.

Mr. Tongue came to visit the school Monday. He stayed until evening and said some good words to the pupils.

Misses Della Polard and Juanita LeMaster have been added to the morning class in the sewing room for this quarter.

The plumber boys are working very hard to get electric lights upon the post and the men seem to be very anxious to get them up.

Last Tuesday evening Rev. St. Pierre talked about his trip from New York to Constantinople, which was very interesting to hear.

We regret to read in the Indian Advocate that a large number of pupils have been down with colds, and light fever at the Carson City school.

The small girls are very busy sewing carpet bags for their own use and we hope to see some nice carpet in their building in the near future.

I received a letter from Robert Debus last week and in his letter he stated that their barn was burned and only one team of horses was saved.

Mr. Childers and his father boys are very busy mending the school building next spring. Mr. Childers is improving the school farm every year.

The Y. W. C. A. State Annual Conference will be held in Salem from the 10th to 16th instant. All of the officers and executive men of each committee expect to attend.

Mrs. Campbell's grade enjoyed the story of "Patsy" at the study hour, while Mr. Wilson probably entertained his grades by reading selections from "Huckleberry."

Emily Duway and Alton McDonald are learning a new trade, that of laying ropes. They are apt apprentices and will be proud to show you a sample of their work if you will call at McFrieds Hall.

Lena Charles who is working in Selma writes to her friend saying she wishes to be back to school before Thanksgiving. She says she knows she will enjoy the dinner and also the entertainments.

One day this week a Chemawa teacher had been laboring over the difference between the minus and a period. "What is this mark children?" "It's a bullet with a tail," shrieked a young prodigy. On a