

colander a leg pistol was found in his belt.

Last week a gentleman told the whole school some beautiful stories that we never read before. A man from the South, also told some stories about this school how they had to work to get an education and how much larger and handsomer it is than when he was a pupil.

Local and General.

Yess Woodworth and Lion Wilbur visited Salem yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Irene, made a trip to Portland yesterday.

The principals were surprised on Wednesday night to see a big "P" on the floor.

Messrs. Woodhouse and Woodin are said to be the champion woodmen here.

Every body here deplored for his home people, when he will make a stay of some three days visiting friends.

Mr. Campbell says he has noticed he had a doubt that he killed the duck, which greatly disappoints Messrs. Woodin and Woodhouse.

The schoolroom last year in the beautiful place of the Building River Journal is yet to be wreck. The necessary substance upon is covered at any price.

Mr. Thompson during his recent sickness remarked to Mr. Farrow that it was hard to look out a man who used a wax coat.

Two last last game at Chemawa between the two and the famous Wisconsin University and Chemawa.

The many friends of Mr. Theodore M. Thompson our former housekeeper are glad to hear that he was not dangerously ill as was reported and all hope for a speedy recovery.

Calvin McQuide Hall and son—if you are down to the beautiful lake during some of these days and Lake Symington is down McQuide Hall is inclusion for the making of all the pictures which adorn the building. We will show you the finest lake and let you find out about yourself.

Mr. Henry L. Patterly of the Minneapolis Journal was an honored visitor Thursday.

He went through all the shops, school rooms, and several of the home departments. In the morning pupils he made a very nice address, giving them some splendid practical advice. When going through the harness and saddlery departments he fell in love with one of the saddles made by the boys and purchased it, ordering it sent to Minneapolis, Minnesota.

On Monday night some of the employees of the school met in the gymnasium to organize a basket ball team. Those present were, Miss Sellers, Mrs. Green, Miss O'Hare, Miss Bowman, Miss Dagwell, Mrs. Cooper, Miss Hutchinson, Mrs. Starnard, Mrs. Stephenson, and Miss Campbell. The first team lost their assistance for the first practice and many hearty laughs broke forth at the expense of the employees. The climax was reached, however, when Miss O'Hare made her fifty yard run with the ball. The referee declared it a touch-down. After a jolly hour they retired to Miss Sellers' parlor, where dainty refreshments were served by our hostess and Mrs. Sherard. The name of the organization will be kept a secret, but for the sake of the inquisitive we declare ourselves the K. K. Basket Ball Team.

We hope that Chas. Hicks, who recently joined the band, will prove a splendid player on the big bass drum. Charles is naturally a musician, and he is interested in all the musical organizations of the school.

Carl Goffe is now ready for hard rehearsal. He surely will master his little studies.

James Smith, the section foreman of Chemawa's railroad, with his experienced helpers are undoubtedly getting up the most perfect line of railroad, back of the power house.

There are 15 head of large hogs in a separate pen to receive extra feed for a length of time, to fit them for the market. There is profit in live goods at 5 cents.

The onion plots all planted in the foot house and the turn and garden boys are preparing for it.