

INDUSTRIAL WORK.

The Administration building had to be moved to make room for the Boys' new brick Dormitory. This necessitated changing the electric lighting, steam heating, water and sewer connections for the building. All this work (and it was considerable) was done by the pupils of the school. One of the Engineer Apprentices asked who was to do the work of making the electric light and steam connections and when informed that they would have to do it, replied, "That's good, it will give us more chances to learn." The work is now completed. The picture above shows the boys at work getting the ditches ready for the steam pipes.
