

Local and Personal.

Isn't this fine Thanksgiving weather?

The health of the pupils of the school at the present date is very good.

A number of employes and pupils attended the opera in Salem on Monday night.

One of the girls drew a picture of a turkey and under it she wrote "his last gift to me."

There are 14 daily papers taken by Indians on the Lummi Reservation, besides weeklies and monthlies.

Henry Contrazo is practicing on a Clarinet. Practice hard Henry and get into the band as quickly as possible.

Our monthly entertainment will be held on Monday evening. Thanksgiving preparations prevented us from having it this week.

Mr. Wilson is quite sick at the hospital.

Elmer LaRosa subscribed for The Chemawa American for himself and sister who lives in California.

Miss Froom, Mrs. Grove and Mrs. Westfall were main credit for the pretty decoration of the school chapel for the Thanksgiving day exercises.

Les, and Angela Jefferson this summer built a large and comfortable barn for their father, which would do credit to a good few other businessmen.

Three of the new boys whom Mr. Campbell brought with him from Lummi have entered the 5th grade. They are Alex George, Ed. Warren, and John Finkbonner.

Berbert Campbell passed through Chemawa on Wednesday evening enroute to Portland to attend the game between the State University and Multnomahs.

Mr. Woods, school carpenter, renewed his subscription Monday, and handed in two books. That is the way The Old Man-In-Town likes to see them come in. Keep a coming.

The 6th grade is well supplied with Thanksgiving Turkey. Mrs. Campbell had her boys and girls each draw a picture of a turkey and now they decorate the walls of the room.

John Alexis, who was a student of Chemawa in 1895 was glad to hear of his old school. When Mr. Campbell visited him, John was busy raising his fine crop of potatoes for winter use.

Mrs. Beckers assisted by Miss Bowman, attended to the decorations of the dining room and the arranging of the tables for Chemawa's Thanksgiving Dinner, and the tables and the room never looked better.

Mr. Williams, the cook, Mr. Teabo, the baker, and Mrs. Becker, the Dining Room maids, deserve the credit for having given the pupils the best, nicest and most appetizing dinner they ever received at Chemawa.

The platform in our chapel has a changed appearance, since a beautiful mosaic carpet covers its floor. We hope the boys and girls will so conduct themselves that "scoldings" from it will be a thing of the past, and entirely unnecessary this year.

Herald schoolmates will be glad to know that Ross Guthrie, who was a pupil of Chemawa eight years ago is well and happy. She is now Mrs. Henry Knabbonner and is living happily with her husband on one of the steam farms to be found near Mountain View, Wash.

One of the most progressive Indians at Lummi is Delbert Squipi. He is one of the Judges and he quite an intelligent young man, and is quite a help to Mr. Branson, the Sub Agent in Charge. This year Richard raised 175 sacks of potatoes on a little patch of half an acre.

The third and fourth foot ball teams, which are better know as The "Hole in the wall" and the "Giants," came together on Thanksgiving to decide on which team was the best. The score was 3 to 0 in favor of the "Hole in the wall." The latter will look for bigger games in the future.

Last Monday Mr. Campbell returned from Lummi Reservation with thirteen pupils as follows:—James Jefferson, Shanon Jefferson, Joseph Jefferson, Edward Warren, William Solomon, Alexis George, John Finkbonner, Richard Hillain, Lena Finkbonner, Mary Finkbonner, Laura Brown and Matilda and Sarah Williams
