

THE DINING ROOM AND WATER TOWER.

Local and Personal.

The after noon division has the best school lines.

Daisies are blooming in the gardens around the Academic Hall.

The Priscilla's are improving very rapidly under their able instructor, Mrs. Cloutier.

Vanished while being washed, a white sweater. Finder please bring the same to Employees cafe, Room 6.

Miss Lucinda Davis crocheted a nice black shawl for herself, and now she will crochet one for Mrs. Cloutier.

I hope we will all stick to our studies and work, and be a success, let us go forward step by step.

We can do it by making the most of our condensed time "Opportunity" as Mr. St. Pierre has told us.

It should be the great pleasure of every energetic boy to make use of the opportunity which we have in this school.

Mrs. Brewer can feel proud of her daughter Ella, she will have a first class dress-maker, as well as a fine musician in her family.

Miss Bowman has finished a very beautiful battenberg lace collar that can bear the gaze of any critical eye. The price is ten dollars although it is worth twice that sum.

The members of the Nonpariel and Reliance societies met in a joint meeting last Thursday evening. A good program had been prepared and was well rendered. The musical selection by the four young men deserves special mention.

"What is the difference between a son of a millionaire, an organ and a glue pot?" was asked by the Priscilla instructor. As no one could guess the conundrum, she gave the answer leaving out the glue pot.

Jessie Symington who was eager to learn the rest of the conundrum asked, "What about the glue pot?" "That's where you stick" was the reply.
