

How do you like it?

James Smith is a first class poet so the Engineer boys say.

The C.I.S. upon the top of the water tank gives Chemawa a good advertisement at nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell attended the Grand Opera in Portland on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Andrew Picard has departed from us. He is going to Pendleton, Ore. to work in a harness shop. That is good and we hope he will put half of his earnings in the bank so he will soon be a rich man and own a harness shop of his own.

I am sure that all of the pupils of this school felt very thankful to Mr. St. Pierre for the brilliant address that he delivered last night. I also think that a large number of the boys and girls went out of the chapel feeling glad that they were in Chemawa instead of Persia.

We regret to announce that Dr. W. J. Stephenson has resigned as physician at Chemawa and retired to private practice, owing to the poor health of his wife. Dr. Stephenson and his estimable wife, during their short stay at Chemawa made many warm friends, and the regret was universal that circumstances were such that compelled him to leave us. In Doctor Stephenson we lose an excellent physician and a worthy gentleman.

In the resignation of Supt. Ralph P. Collins of Albuquerque the service loses a very faithful and successful long-time worker. Although their names are not often seen in the papers, Superintendent and Mrs. Collins are always found at their post, and are well known to be first, last and all the time true friends of the Indian. The schools that have been under Mr. Collins' charge will not soon forget him, and the Hopi especially have much for which to hold him in grateful remembrance. He will return to his beautiful home near the foot of the Spanish Peaks.—[Native American.]

Col. R. M. Pringle, Supervisor of Engineering is now visiting the School inspecting our Engineering Department. He is a genial gentleman and is looking after Chemawa's needs. He says that he enjoys the Oregon Climate, especially after having spent several weeks on the sandy hills of Arizona.

Henry Lovelace, printer and manager of the AMERICAN, has severed his connections with Chemawa, owing to ill health, and left on Thursday for Phoenix, Arizona, where he hopes to recuperate. Henry was a faithful, conscientious young man and put forth his best endeavor in whatever he undertook. For the past year he has had the entire management of the AMERICAN. We wish him the best of prosperity in his new surroundings.

Haynes DeWitt unexpectedly found himself a visitor of the Priscilla Art Club Monday evening. He settled himself comfortably for the evening and evidently enjoyed his surroundings. As an admirer of dainty designs in needle work, the girls think he can hardly be surpassed. How long Haynes would have remained is a question. But when Mary J. Smith apparently without any malice began a ghost story, Haynes suddenly made his exit, even forgetting to say "Goodnight"

On Thursday P. M., the school was honored by a visit from Congressman-elect Williamson, who came up on the afternoon overland with Mr. Charles Gray, his wife and a number of ladies. The party was met at the station by the school band, and during their stay, the band discoursed sweet music from the band stand. The Industrial Departments, the Dormitories and Dining Room were visited in the order named. Mr. Williamson expressing himself as much pleased with what he observed. He took a great interest in everything, and as he remarked, "I am pleased to see what you have here, so that when I get to Washington, I may know personally concerning your needs." Our new brick structures were greatly admired. The Girls' New Dormitory sharing its praises with those of our Industrial Shops.
