

Married.

Mrs. Lillian Cartheron was married last Wednesday, to Mr. I. Raney of Corder, Mo., and is now happily located in a beautiful home in "Old Missouri." Mr. Raney is one of Corber's enterprising and well-to-do business men. The AMERICAN wishes them a long life of success and happiness.

A Leech Lake Indian School correspondent to the Indian Herald says: "The lake is still frozen over so that teams pass over to Walker. 5,000 lbs. of flour was recently brought over for the school house in one load. Though the air is mild and warm at times the chances are that the lake will be frozen over for two weeks yet."

Class of '03

The class of '03 met Wednesday, April 22, for the purpose of transacting business and make necessary arrangements for the coming commencement. Miss Wilbur well deserves the honor and credit bestowed upon her as class historian. Miss Emily Downie as class grumbler seems well pleased and will probably display great ability in this line. Martin Wollan, whose eloquence won the votes of the girls, who are in majority and consequently rule, was chosen as the one to select the class motto, which is, "Our yesterdays and todays are the blocks by which we build." Martin was also chosen class orator. Class colors, crimson and white. E. G.

New hydrants are being put in on the lawn at different points for sprinkling purposes. The pipe was extended for the purpose last winter.

The engineers finished repairing the electric light wires to the barn Thursday. They were damaged by flying chunks of wood while the farmers were blasting stumps in that vicinity.

The engineer's department was busy this week extending water mains. About 300 feet was laid south of of the small girl's home, and 100 feet extension was made back of the barn to the pasture to furnish water to the young stock.

Local and General.

School gardening is now in full force.

Wm Goodrich is setting poles in his hop yard west of the school.

Miss Margaret McDonald played her piano solo last Thursday evening with fine technique and expression.

Question for solution: If it takes 100 hoes to cultivate one acre of ground, how many hoes will it take to cultivate 345.910 acres?

The senior class are working hard on their orations and recitations for Commencement which will take place some time in June.

The AMERICAN office acknowledges a pleasant call from the fifth grade pupils, accompanied by their teacher, Mr. Wilson, last Tuesday.

Lost, a dainty rose bud from the lapel of a coat, while the owner was playing tennis. A liberal reward will be paid and no questions asked.

The panoramic views of Ch-mawa taken by Mr. Leo Stanwood, of Salem last week are something new in the photographic line and gives an excellent view of the entire school grounds. About 125 pictures were purchased by the employes.

Mr. Westley forced the weather a little by wearing a light straw hat Tuesday so his boys had to work in the roothouse Wednesday on account of rain.

The Evening Telegram gives the State championship in basket ball to the boys of Willamette University. Chemawawians with Eugene in giving them the closest game, losing by four points only, we congratulate our neighbors and promise them a sharper contest next year.

After the social last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Becker invited several friends to their apartments where they bade all "eat, drink and be merry." Delicious lemonade, cake and many other good things were in abundance. These generous hearted peop's have a well merited reputation in Chemawa for their kind hospitality.