

gardens are being made in the carpenter shop this week.

Mr. Godwin tried his hand at carpentering this week and made two large gates for the dairy department.

The sitting room in the small boys building is being thoroughly renovated. The painters have it in hand at present and as soon as they are through, carpenters take it in hand and add improvements.

Paint Shop

If you think Bob Davis cannot hang wall paper, just give him a chance.

The Chemawa meat market has been painted one coat of paint. Red roof and white walls.

Small boys lavatory has been painted a coat of white on the outside, which improved its looks greatly.

Frank Hamilton is becoming an expert at plastering. He has been patching the small girls' home with several boys to help him.

The painters put on the finishing touch of varnish on the Superintendent's carriage and it is now ready for the carriage trimmers. It will certainly make a very fine showing with two nice looking, well kept horses attached. Also a nice looking harness on the horses.

Wagon Shop.

Mr. Ovrman says he will hardly know himself when he gets the glass partition in his tailor shop.

The paint on the new fence around the industrial building adds much to the good appearance of the place.

As soon as material is available for the new canopy top for the wagonette, Geo. Olney and Sebastian La Chester will undertake the job.

Look out for green lawns now. The wagon makers finished sowing white clover and blue grass in front of their building last Saturday. Mr. Hilb had a sad experience in trying to run a rotary grass seeder without previous instructions from the farmers, and got his finger in the cog wheels, making a very sore finger for a few days. Hereafter he will call in some one else when he has grass seed to sow.

Garden and Orchard.

Strawberries are in bloom.

Two acres of corn and beans were planted Tuesday.

The gardeners sent seven bushels of chubarb to the kitchen last Friday, which was the first of the season.

One acre was planted in cucumbers, squashes and pumpkins Thursday. One acre was also planted in carrots, parsnips and radishes in the lake garden first of the week.

The west orchard was plowed and put in good shape this week. The fruit trees are all in bloom now, except the cherries and prunes which have shed their blossoms and are full of small fruit.

The $2\frac{1}{2}$ acres of onions set out by the boys in the lake garden are looking splendid.

Among some of the lunch goods received this week at Henderson's are the following: peaches, apricots, pears, oranges, lemons, chipped beef, lunch tongue, pork and beans, Malta vita, sardines, etc.

The Farmers.

The new fence and extension of the barn lots add much to the appearance around the barn.

We don't think it exaggerating to say that Chemawa has as fine a lot of hogs as any Indian school in the United States.

The last stump was blasted in the barn lot Monday morning. It looks rather odd now that all those old land marks are gone, but adds much to the looks of things out that way.

The farmer, with his boys, is now busy fencing in the teachers' garden east of the school building. We will have an opportunity to see some scientific fencing done now. There is no excuse for poor work as the ground is in good order.
