

The Chemawa American.

Published Weekly by Pupils of The Chemawa Indian School.

Subscription price 25 cents per year.
Clubs of five or over, 20 cents.

Entered at the postoffice at Chemawa, Ore.,
as second-class mail-matter.

"If only I had his chance!" sighed a young lad whose cheeks were brown and his hands roughened with work upon the farm, as he saw a neighbor's boy step upon a train that was to take him to the college he was to enter. Not only was a college education before this last mentioned one, but a profession later, if he prepared for it. "If only I had his chance!" again murmured the one left, as he made his way over the green sod back to the farm. And how many a boy has said this sadly or bitterly, according to his temperament, when he contrasted his own lot with that of another.

Let us say to you boys who feel you have been obliged to leave school earlier than was best on account of burdens to be born, if your life seems cramped with regard to college education, make it broad with regards to other education. You cannot win another's opportunity by wishing for it, but you can see that you use your own opportunity to the very best. The thing of chief importance in life is to realize that wherever we are placed, we can do good work. And it is the good workers the world has need of, be they in the country or in the city.—Advance.

A SYMPOSIUM.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push," said the Button.

"Take pains," said the Window.

"Never be led," said the Pencil.

"Be up to date," said the Calendar.

"Always keep cool," said the Ice.

"Do business on tick," said the Clock.

"Never lose your head," said the Barrel.

"Do a driving business," said the Hammer.

"Aspire to greater things," said the Nutmeg.

"Make light of everything," said the Fire.

"Make much of small things," said the Microscope.

"Never do anything offhand," said the Glove.

"Spend much time in reflection," said the Mirror.

"Do the work you are suited for," said the Flue.

"Get a good pull with the ring," said the Door-bell.

"Be sharp in all your dealings," said the Knife.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the Glue.

"Strive to make a good impression," said the Seal.

"Turn all good things to your advantage," said the Lathe.—The Jewish Criterion.

RULES FOR CHEMAWA PUPILS

1. Wash your hands and face, and comb your hair before going to meals, school, or chapel.

2. Black your shoes.