

News of The Week.

Mr. Lousbury, of the S. P. R. R., dined with Supt. Potter yesterday.

Mrs. C. A. Mulleuger and daughter were visitors to Portland this week.

Inspector Butler, of the Postal Department, visited Chemawa Tuesday.

Mr. Farrow moved this week into the cottage recently vacated by Mrs. Mitchell.

The painters were engaged this week in painting the new cottage which will soon be occupied by Mr. Mann.

A drain has been put in along Industrial avenue which will drain the water off after some of our winter showers.

A detail of carpenters were busy first of the week adding some needed repairs to the gymnasium and repairing benches.

Percy Johnson, a former member of the printing force, is back to Chemawa and in the printing office. Percy will graduate this year.

Mr. Wm. Lovelace met with a painful accident one day this week. While using a cold chissel a piece of steel chipped off and struck his arm, entering quite deep.

The football boys are in good practice for the Vancouver game tomorrow with the big soldiers. We hope they will win a great victory to make up for losses in California.

One of Chemawa's old pupils in a letter says: "I wish I was able to go to school again, to my old home at Chemawa. I often get homesick for Chemawa to hear the band and all the nice music that they have down there. This is a very dull place."

Rev. L. Gaiser and Mr. John Hohf, of Salem, made Chemawa a pleasant call Wednesday. The gentlemen visited the different departments and expressed themselves as very much pleased with the school.

Our second football team will meet the Multnomah second team in Portland Saturday. This latter team played a tie game with Mt. Angel last Saturday.

Mr. Hilb, with his force of wagon makers has been fitting up one of the cottages and putting it in shape for occupancy. A new porch was added, doors hung, lined inside, window casings put in, etc.

Mrs. S. E. Kuhn has returned from a visit to her former home at Klamath Falls, Ore. While Mrs. Kuhn still loves her old home she likes the climate and the surroundings of Chemawa better than Klamath Falls.

Levi Sorter was much in evidence in last Saturday's game. As he sailed down the line with head up and hair a flying, and the pig-skin tucked snugly under his arm, he won the applause of even the Albany rooters.

Wm. Hunt, who for the past year has been industrial teacher at the Puyallup school, has been transferred to Warm Springs, Ore., to act in the same capacity. Mr. Hunt was a student at Chemawa several years ago and was an employe of this school for a time. The position of industrial teacher has been abolished at Puyallup.

Mrs. Maggie Mitchell resigned her position as assistant laundress last week and left Monday morning for Fort Stanley, Wash., where she will make her future home. Mrs. Mitchell possesses the respect and friendship of every employe and pupil in Chemawa and will be greatly missed by all. Mrs. Woods will take her place until a permanent appointment has been made.

Mrs. Theisz has handed us the following names of girls, from tables No. 1 and 2, who have kept the most orderly and neatest looking tables in the dining hall throughout the week: Addie Saylor, Odessia Dodson, Wilsie Downie and Ida Baldwin. All the girls deserve credit and many have often had their tables just as attractive as the above named girls at times during the week, but not for so long a time.
