

General News.

Charles Wacheno made a very neat leather grip for Mr. Campbell this week.

Supervisor Holland arrived at Chemawa yesterday to inspect the school.

It is rumored that Susie Siegel's zeal in Domestic Science is really alarming.

The painters gave Miss Patrick's room a fresh coat of paint and kalsomine this week.

Miss Blanche Charlney came down from Portland and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Becker.

Winnie Stoddard made a delicious orange cream cake last Monday for "somebody's" birthday.

The Domestic Science girls are very proud of a nice towel-rack made for them by Joshua Gibson.

Miss Micheals, of the State Mute School, spent last Saturday and Sunday visiting Miss Irene Campbell.

Mr. Burdette drove off with a new one-horse wagon that was turned out of the wagon shop last week. Another one is now under construction and will undoubtedly find a ready market.

Mr. and Mrs. Godwin returned Saturday evening from Corvallis, where they have been spending the past month.

Mr. Campbell and Mr. Woodin went to town Wednesday afternoon to purchase linoleum for the offices that are nearing completion.

Violet Edwards is working for Mrs. Cooper and keeps her rooms neat and tidy, besides taking excellent care of Master Forrest Cooper.

Mr. Herbert Campbell came down from Portland and spent Sunday at Chemawa. Mr. Campbell is now engaged in the insurance business at the metropolis.

M. R. Decker, an ex-Chemawa pupil, is now conducting a prosperous mercantile business at Trinidad, Cal. We wish him continued success in his new enterprise.

The basketball girls were entertained Wednesday evening at the cottage by Supt. Potter. Games and music was the order of the evening and a merry time was had by all.

Mr. Henderson has just received at his store some of the most delicious apple butter to be found anywhere. He has also just got in some nice sweet pickles, mincemeat and catsup. Why send away from Chemawa for groceries when you can do as well or better here?

Mrs. S. E. Kuhn, who has been spending several months visiting her son, H. E. Mann, at Chemawa, left Thursday for her home at Klamath Falls. Mrs. Kuhn is much pleased with the warm, mild climate we have here and says that she has never enjoyed better health than she has this winter while at Chemawa.

Rev. St. Pierre of Salem preached to the School last Sunday, taking for his text, "What is Thy Life?" His discourse was very eloquent and impressive. Mr. St. Pierre possesses the natural tact and ability to interest boys and girls as well as older people and his sermons are never dry, but always to the point.

A cow belonging to a neighboring farmer was killed by a train in front of the school yesterday. There have been several cows killed and crippled in the same manner this winter. It is a pitiful sight to see an animal lying along side the track with its limbs ground into sausage or its internals torn out and it yet alive.

Mr. Hilb gave a talk on wagonmaking and the care of wagons Wednesday evening that should prove a great benefit to those who will put to practical use what was said. The importance of careful useage of wagons was very clearly brought out and we all learned many new things in the wagon-making line that is useful knowledge.

Mr. Stoudenmeyer attended a party last Wednesday evening at the Reform School, which was given in honor of the birthdays of Messrs. Harry L. Beard and H. S. Poisal. Fling, pit and other games were indulged in until a late hour when delicious refreshments were served. Mr. Stoudenmeyer reports having spent a most enjoyable evening and declares the officers of that institution to be royal entertainers.

Another coffee roasting contest was on in the kitchen one day last week between George Dowd, John LaBounty and Floyd Labelle. The boys were "onto their job" this time and all "broke" even, with each of the trio claiming first place and a reward. Their work was so near perfect that none could have done better. John LaBounty joined the printing force this week and now challenges the entire detail to a "pi" making contest. His challenge has not been accepted, however, as the other printers do not think the reward would justify the attempt.
