

PUPILS' ITEMS

Annie Johnson is now working in the dining room.

Examination is coming soon. That means study hard.

Allen Walton a new pupil is learning the carpenter trade.

We are all glad to see Martin Hartless back to school again.

We were all sorry when Calvin Darnell got hurt playing foot-ball.

This weather makes me wish for the good old summer time.—P. S.

McBride Hall girls gave Mrs. Theisz a very beautiful clock, Christmas.

The old Year is gone, and the New Year comes with a coat of snow.

We are all glad that school has started again, after our week's vacation.

Here it is 1907! I hope we make a very good success of this New Year.

Mr. Westley is out for his vacation and his gardeners are busy pruning trees.

Anna Houser has a beautiful picture in her room which Santa Claus brought to her.

After a week's vacation, the pupils are back in school again. Ready for another year's success.

Alvin Pollock has just finish a nice set of back bands for a set of harness. Alvan is a good worker.

Mary Pablo received a letter from a friend telling her that her father was dead. We all feel sorry for Mary, so we all must try to make her happy for she has no mother and father.

Eva Simmons returned from her long vacation last Friday, and report that she had a nice time, and many of her friends were glad to see her.

Violet and Myrtle Berner reported having a very pleasant time while visiting relatives in Portland during the holidays. They are now back at school again.

The pupils of the seventh grade are sorry to hear that Calvin Darnell was hurt by playing foot-blal on New Year's day, and hope he will be able to play the next game which will come off in two weeks.

After a week's vacation we are again in school putting knowledge into our heads. Oh! if there was only an easier way of putting the so called knowledge into our block heads, instead of study! study! study!

During the Christmas week when the evenings were unoccupied, the girls of McBride Hall, entertained themselves by giving a short program, in which a number of girls took part. Lizzie Frazier, acting as manager.

On Monday evening an oyster supper was given by Miss Gertrude Brewer. About sixteen young people were fortunate enough to attend. The evening was spent playing games and singing. After which oysters were served in a most appetizing manner.

The Excelsior's second team defeated the Hiawatha's second team in a foot-ball contest on New Year's day. Most of the boys who took part in the game had little experience in foot-ball, but to stand by their society and uphold their colors, they played like old foot-ball veterans.