

SOCIETIES

EITHER ONE gets better every day or gets worse.

NONPARIEL—The Nonpariel Literary Society met in usual room. Mr. Chalcraft visited a little while and spoke a few encouraging words after which a very lively debate followed. They are now intending to give an open door meeting in the near future.

EXCELSIOR—The Excelsior Literary Society met in their usual place and had a lively debate. The subject for discussion was, Resolved: That the Indians have more complaint to make against the United States than the Negroes.

The speakers were: Levi Sortor, Apis Goudy and Martin Samson, on the affirmative side. Robert Cameron, Leon Parker and John Peazzoni, negative. It was a lively debate, both sides brought in good points. During the debate one of our visitors, John Sortor, was called on for a speech. He quickly responded stating that he would uphold the Negative side of the question. His opponents soon found out that he was not a slow speaker, but the Affirmative side also had some fast speakers who also caused the judges to decide in their favor.

ESTELLE REELS, ROOSEVELTS—

The Estelle Reels and Roosevelts met in Room 4 and as usual had a very interesting meeting. The Estelle Reels gained two new members while the Roosevelts took four sturdy lads within their fold.

Both societies are proud of their new colors. The girls have the blue and gold.

The boys have chosen red ribbon with black letters. Supt. Chalcraft was a visitor during the evening and spoke very encouragingly to both societies.

Pointed Paragraphs

What is a sign of age in others is, of course, a sign of sense in you.

Some people think they have done their duty if they express a willingness to do it.

Some people in time grow almost famous for hearing of things that never happened.

The average man will stand without hitching a great deal better than if he is tied to a pole.

There is one thing sure—in a home where there is always enough cooked for company they always have it.

The jealousy of the children when mother cuts the pie isn't anything compared with that they feel in later years when father divides it.—Ex.

TOM CRONISE'S STUDIO

It would be well for all those who desire a good photograph of themselves to visit the art gallery of Tom Cronise and have themselves photographed. His pictures are admired by all who have viewed them, and his prices are exceedingly liberal considering the excellence of his work
