CAN WE not improve our marching?

Do NOT think that you are a man because you know how to use tobacco.

WHO SAID "Character is what we are and reputation is what people think we are."

WE WISH some one in the Y. W. C. A. and in the Nonpareil Literary Society could spare a moment of their precious time and send us reports of their meetings like the others do.

"INTEMPERANCE" was the subject of Mr. Forbes' talk last Sunday evening. He held the attention of the students as the stillness of the room gave evidence of the fact and one need only to look upon their countenances for further proof of their interest in his words. The boys and girls should know by this time that "fire water" has been the undoing of what might have been many a brave

Indian chieftain and to be safe from it's influences they must "touch not, taste not, handle not."

WORK as best as you can, remember that honor lies upon doing well. How deplorable would it be if you fail in your life work, which you have an opportunity to advance to better life.—W. H.

THE boys basket ball first team are practicing harder than ever and are showing up fine after their defeat the other night. They realized their weak points and are trying to remedy them and endeavor to make a far better showing in their coming games.

THE girls realize the fact that to win many games this season they must practice hard and faithful. This they are doing now. If they are attentive to their coach and harmonize among themselves there is no reason why our girls will lose a winning team.

A CERTAIN editor and publisher once told his employes that one of the most effective lessons he ever learned consisted of only four words. Having asked his grandfather to explain the meaning of a certain word, the old gentleman replied: "Frank, there's the dictionary."

THE employees basket-ball team is practicing hard and faithful as they anticipate playing a game with the Y. W. C. A. team of Salem. They feel confident as they have a big and speedy team. The line is as follows: Mellie La Breach, center; Lizzie Galbreath and Lulu Beach, Guards; Nora and Hattie Mann forwards. Misses Harriet Jones, Hollis Davis and Mrs. Mann are substitutes. Albert Payne, coach.
