

PUPILS' ITEMS

Four new pupils entered the fifth grade B class this week.

You just watch the Montana children come to Chemawa.

Thomas Holden is our new janitor in the school-building.

Alfred Lane is the best mathematician in the seventh grade.

Martha Miles is making Dora Gray a beautiful bead belt.

Sara Brewer was promoted from the fourth A to the fifth B.

If you want to hear some fine stories go to Isabella McGibbon.

The girls are glad to learn that Miss Campbell will soon be home.

They say that Mabel McKay did fine work in the game with Corvallis.

The sewing room girls have started on the new duck dresses for this year.

James and Charles Minesinger are in charge of the power house this week.

Joseph Jefferson is back in school again after a spell of illness in the hospital.

Lizzie Martin and Grace Barrett are practicing a very pretty duett to sing in the society.

Eva Simmons and Grace Dumore were promoted from the fourth B to the fourth A.

Rena Mann is getting along nicely in the fourth grade, and we hope she will keep it up.

George Horn is laid up in the Hospital on account of getting hooked on the leg by Johnnie Deer.

The fourth grade B class is very crowded, but promotions will make it easier for the pupils.

Annie Galbreath is working in the sewing room, and she is getting to be quite a dressmaker.

The entertainment Monday evening was enjoyed by all who attended. The dialogue was excellent.

Louisa Murray played a good game of basket-ball the other evening and the game was enjoyed by all.

Miss Johnston told the fifth B class about her trip coming to Chemawa and it was very interesting to all.

Miss Ethel Parrish, of Portland High School, is here in the school spending her spring vacation with Miss Dohse.

The boys in the tailor shop are very busy making coats. Mr. Beck is well pleased and proud of their work.

Edwin Lachance is getting to be a good tailor now. He will be one of the best tailors in Chemawa if he keeps it up.

Martin Hartless, Fred Irving, Zenas Beach and Julia Harvard have been promoted from the fifth B to the A class.

Charles Harris, one of our apprentices of the printing office found a pillow case and said: "I am going to sleep good to-night."

We are very sorry that Alice Sisk got her foot hurt while out for a walk with Miss Johnston and Miss Luedke last Sunday.

Philip Sooksoit is one of the best gardeners. He is getting some ground ready to plant celery, and cabbage. He tends to the potato delivering.

Slow but sure is the old saying. Short but sweet. Indeed it was sweet. The Colonel's talk last Sunday evening, and the reason it was sweet is because he mean't every word from his heart.

On Lincoln's birthday the sixth grade had a debate. The question was, "Resolved. That Lincoln was a greater man than Washington." The affirmative won. All who took part made good speeches.
