

James Jefferson left for Hood River this morning where he accepted a good position.

Peter Casey and Eugene Williams are assisting Mr. Kaiser in laying pipes for the water supply in the small girls' home.

The dress makers last week turned out thirty duck dresses. They expect to finish all the duck dresses by the first of April.

Ella and Katie Brewer played a piano duet in Salem last Thursday at the recital given by Miss Weller. It was a success.

The school spirit rose so high last Friday that every boy and girl offered their assistance to the C. I. S. boys if they needed any.

A letter from May Saylor was received last week, and she stated that she is having a very pleasant time, and enjoying good health.

Mattie Hayden received a letter from Miss Backofen. She is now in Washington, D. C., and she is sending her best regards to her hospital girls.

Welcome the Fort's Teachers

Mr. Hosea Locke, who for over twelve years was in charge of the Fort Hall Boarding school, Idaho, after an absence of a year, has been appointed and returned to the Fort Hall Training school as assistant superintendent, under Maj. A. F. Caldwell, superintendent. Mr. Locke resigned his position just a year ago on account of his wife's health, thinking that a lower altitude would be more beneficial to her. Mr. Locke made many friends while here during the twelve years of service and had the confidence of his superior officers, as is shown by his appointment and return to his old field of labor.

The pupils and employees of the agency and school extended to him a hearty and cordial reception upon his return. The Indian School band was out in full force and greeted him with their best class of music. The passenger train upon which Mr. Locke arrived was filled with passengers, who wondered what was going on way out in the sage brush and was held until the last strains of music had died away, and the passengers were told why such a demonstration was made at such a place as Ross Fork.

Miss Ida L. Palmer, formerly kindergarten teacher at Fort Hall Indian school, has been appointed matron by the department and has returned to her old field of labor, where she made many friends during her former stay at Fort Hall. She has known most of the pupils from their infancy, having taught them from the kindergarten class.

The celebration of Washington's birthday closed in a happy manner at the Fort Hall Indian school last night. A reception and banquet was given by the ladies of the Fort Hall Indian school in honor of Mr. Hosea Locke and Miss Ida L. Palmer, former employes of this school and who have been returned to their old field of labor. A pleasant and happy time was had by those fortunate enough to receive invitations to the reception and banquet. The old employes renewed their former acquaintance with Mr. Locke and Miss Palmer, and the new employes will have an opportunity to know and appreciate their sterling worth. Mr. Locke responded to a toast "My return to Fort Hall" in a happy manner.
