

poor sort of boy. Be clean of speech and of life. Be truthful and honest and straightforward. Be prompt and courteous. If these qualities and tendencies are developed in the school they will stay by you in after life, and will honor not only you but the school that helped you to know their importance.—Selected.

“Remember, my son, you have to work, whether you handle a wheelbarrow or a set of books, digging ditches or editing a paper, ringing an auction bell or writing funny things, you must work. Don't be afraid of killing yourself by overwork on the sunny side of thirty men die sometimes, but it's because they quit at 6 p. m. and don't get home until 2 a. m. It's the interval that kills, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It only speaks of them as 'old so and so's boys.' Nobody likes them; the great busy world doesn't know that they are here. So find out what you want to be and do, take off your coat and make dust in the world. The busier you are the less harm you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied the world will be with you.—Ex.

An Indian For Juror.

To have the honor of being the first Indian in King county who has been drawn for jury service is the proud distinction of James Moses, of Renton, who will serve at the April term of the superior court.

“Jim” Moses, as he is known all over the Sound country, is the last of the famous peace-loving Black river tribe of Indians. Moses was born in Eagle harbor, whither his grandfather had gone with the Black river tribe during the Indian wars of 1857. He lived there a short time and then came back with his parents to Renton, where he now owns a five-acre tract at the mouth of the Black River. His residence is on the home place of E. M. Smithers, the old pioneer, who died only a short time ago. He lives there with his wife and three children, two of whom are in the public schools at Renton.

In speaking of his being drawn on the jury list, James Moses said yesterday: “It is certainly a distinction to be drawn on the jury in this county and to have an active voice in the affairs of the country again. The fact that I am the first one of all the Indians in this county to be drawn makes me feel proud not only for myself but for the honor of my race, which was always loyal to the peaceful conditions of the white men.”—Ex.

CRONISE STUDIO

The best studio in the city of Salem to have your photographs taken is the Cronise Studio. Prices are reasonable and the work is always executed in the latest styles. This studio has won for itself a reputation among its many patrons in and around Salem, and if the students of the United States Training School desire a fine photograph they should call at this excellent art gallery.

TOM CRONISE'S STUDIO

It would be well for all those who desire a good photograph of themselves to visit the art gallery of Tom Cronise and have themselves photographed. His pictures are admired by all who have viewed them, and his prices are exceedingly liberal considering the excellence of his work.