Stag Party Given by The Y. M. C. A. of Chemawa

Saturday evening, April 14, 1906, in the woods at "Old Chemawa," one of the most enjoyable evenings that I have had the pleasure of spending at this school was with the Y. M. C. A. young men of this school.

There were present about 60 members, including John Benson and Robert Davis, the two head officers of this association.

The evening's program consisted of athletic sports of several kinds from high jumping, foot racing, ball throwing, wrestling, tug-of-war, and last but not least two or three boxing contests, which were the main and most enjoyable feature of all the exhibitions given. The bout between John Benson and Arthur Tyler, was exciting and artistic from beginning to end, the laurels being about even at the finish. Thomas McCully and his opponent gave a very good exhibition with the gloves—also Frank Booth and opponent. All contests were gentlemanly and fair throughout. No ill feeling being displayed whatever in any contest.

There were two opposing sides, the "Reds and Blues." Whichever side won the most points in the athletic contests was to have an oyster supper the loser, a bean soup. The oysters were eaten by the Reds, they being victorious.

The sports began at 7:30 and lasted until 10 o'clock, at which time the cooks and helpers had to attend to getting their lunch ready, which was served at 11 o'clock. During the entertainment till lunch was served, an impromptu program was rendered by several of the members, such as Indian songs, and imitations of Indian doctors driving the evil spirits from the sick. Every rendition being good. A first, second and third prize was offered for the best performer. At the close of the program, the judges announced the winners, who were Martin Sampson, first; Albert Garry, second; and the Randeau Brothers, third.

All repaired to the feast awaiting them and did full justice to it as 30 dozen eggs, one case of oysters and a sack of beans, etc.

Every one enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Messrs. Spink, Woods, Cooper and Mr. Payne, made a few remarks each in appreciation of the boys' efforts to give a
