

COCHES

Victory!

Hurrah!

That's sound like it.

Nonpareils vs. Excelsior.

Roses are beginning to bloom.

What is the matter with you, Excelsior?

Who said that the Nonpareils are all right?

Get in the game of baseball or you will be in the back seat.

The grass around Mr. Campbell's house is coming up fair.

Mr. Campbell has planted 500 roses around the new cottage.

Miss Getchel took the girls for a nice long walk Sunday afternoon.

Miss Lucy Jones was the guest of Mrs. Beck at dinner on Easter Sunday.

A pleasant evening was spent on the lawn last Friday evening by the pupils.

There were many new Easter hats and suits worn by employes and pupils on Sunday.

The way Orson Bell sings, we were forced to believe that he has a good teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer and son Ernest spent Saturday and Sunday morning in Portland.

Maxim Barnaby is taking music lessons from Miss Brewer. He is getting along nicely.

The choir sang an anthem "Resurrection Day" on Easter. Orson Bell sang a very nice solo. Charles Payne accompanied him on the violin, and Miss Gertrude Brewer on the piano.

Miss Alice Chalcraft and Miss Claudia Spink looked very sweet on Sunday in their new Easter gowns and hats.

Did any one notice Alice Williams cover her face with her hands while the judges were making their decision?

Eva Woods and Claudia Spink, after spending their Easter vacation with their parents, returned to school Tuesday.

I'm sure we all enjoyed Mr. Hutt's talk last Tuesday night on electricity, especially some of his experiences on railroad telegraphy.

Miss Irene Campbell, Miss Eva Woods and Mr. Herbert Campbell walked to Brooks on Sunday afternoon and came back on the train.

Mrs. Williams of Tacoma, Washington sent her daughter Alice Williams a pretty dress for Easter, which Alice appreciated very much.

John Benson, the principal speaker on the negative side of the debate surprised every one by his eloquence and knowledge of his subject.

The debate resulted in favor of the Nonpareils according to the decision of the judges. Mr. Campbell said it was the finest debate he had ever heard in any Indian school.

The teachers decorated the chapel beautifully for Easter. The platform was artistically and lavishly adorned with spring flowers and potted plants. The beautiful tulips were specially admired.

Word comes from Siletz that Edith Dedrick, a former pupil of Chemawa, is dead. Her many friends here regret to hear of her early death. Since leaving Chemawa she has attended school at Greenville, California and Phoenix, Arizona.
