

LOCALS

Miss Miller left for Washington State on private business.

Miss Bowman makes a good mother for the large girls.

A sociable was held in the gymnasium on Saturday evening.

"Polly," Mr. Campbell's fox terrier, is a fine little ratter.

We have many handsome and choice variety of tulips at Chemawa.

The lilacs are all in full bloom and make the air very fragrant.

Chas. Lovelace, an ex-pupil of Chemawa, was here last Monday.

Wallace Pedro returned to his home at Klamath last Saturday morning.

Wraps! Wraps!! Wraps!!! What a horrible word for the girls of McBride Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalcraft and family took a drive over to Mr. Jones' on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Cloutier and mother are comfortably fixed in rooms in the south cottage. The rooms look very cozy.

Washington Howeatt and his daughter, Lizzie, left for their home at Washington Monday morning.

Fidel Quimpo, one of our printers, is now working at Kaiser. He made a visit into the office Monday morning.

Mrs. Campbell was practicing with some boys and girls after school on Monday and Tuesday and until nine o'clock in the evening. The boys are getting up the entertainment for the San Francisco sufferers, but they need some one to assist them with the music.

Julian's latest algebra problem. If 10 cents is added to, subtracted from and multiplied by, how far will it go toward housekeeping?

Girls who write home that they hate Chemawa because they have to work, should remember what Mr. Forbes said about Idleness.

Peter Seltice is writing so well with his left hand that he makes many of us ashamed who have been writing for years with our right hand.

The sixth and seventh grades wrote compositions on "Clearing Land," last Friday. Mrs. Campbell says she will have the best composition printed in the AMERICAN.

Mr. Cooper is busy getting the school garden in order for the various grades. Mr. Cooper measures off the land and divides the garden into sections—the pupils do the rest.

As soon as the work on pulling stumps finishes, the printers are going to have a visit to all the State institutions in Salem. This is going to be a glorious picnic day for the "devils."

Herbert Campbell visited the printing office Tuesday afternoon. He used to be an expert compositor and took great interest in a stick while here trying to see if he still remembered the cases.

Miss Irene Campbell said she was a little afraid to ask Mr. Teabo to bake all that bread but he did it with the greatest cheerfulness although it gave him and his force extra night duty.

Mr. Forbes chose some good subjects for his Sunday night sermon—Idleness, Bad Temper, Lying, Strong Drink. These are the habits which grow upon us becoming stronger than ourselves.