Pressing Parlors of Jesse Crook

Jesse Crook, a graduate of Chemawa, and who will be remembered as right end of the Chemawa football team, has opened tailoring and cleaning and pressing parlors next to the Newport House in Newport, where visitors at the seaside will be able to secure immediate attention and where he is prepared to do everything in his line. Such an establishment has long been needed at the coast and many will find it a great convenience.—Statesman.

We are glad to see Jesse branching out for himself. Jesse holds a Chemawa diploma in both Literary and Industrial department. He was a good tailor, had learned his trade thoroughly and we can guarantee his patrons satisfactory work.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Haynes DeWitt has recently been received. She died May 9, at a hospital in Juneau, Alaska, where she had undergone a surgical operation. She leaves her husband, and a little boy not quite one year old to mourn her loss. She will be remembered by many here as Anna Hayes.

PROPOSALS FOR HORSES. Chemawa, Oregon, May 31, 1906. SEALED PROPOSALS, plainly marked on the outside of the sealed envelope "Proposals for Horses" and addressed to the undersigned at Chemawa, Oregon, will be received at the Indian School until two o'clock p. m. of June 22, 1906, for furnishing and delivering at the school six young, sound and serviceable horses or mares, weighing not less than 1200 pounds each, as per full specifications obtainable at the school. Bidders must state in their bids the proposed price of each animal to be offered under contract and all animals so offered will be subject to rigid inspection. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or any part of any bid if deemed for the best interest of the Service. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or draft upon some United States depository or solvent National bank, made payable to the order of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for at least five per cent of the amount of the proposals, which check or draft shall be forfeited to the United States in case a bidder receiving an award shall fail to execute promptly a satisfactory contract in accordance with his bid; otherwise to be returned to the bidder. Bids accompanied by cash in lieu of certified check will not be considered. For further information apply to E. L. Chalcraft, Supt., Chemawa, Oregon.
