

Any reader of the Sunday Journal Sporting page undoubtedly noticed a brief account of the Willamette-Chemawa game which was to be played Saturday morning, and would have been played, if, the "Braves" would have been justly treated, but that almighty "if," and in view of the fact that for some unknown reason, there is considerable rivalry between the Chemawa Indians and Willamette students, and that they have already crossed bats twice during the present season, each team succeeded to win one game. The University team manager in order to be sure of the game secured a certain, Mr. Long, whose brother plays in the University team as umpire. In the first inning the "Braves" crossed the plate once, while in their turn at bat Willamette managed to score three runs on errors. It was in this inning that the big center fielder, Mr. Long, in trying to dodge from a pitched ball, claimed that the ball hit him, and to make sure the little fellow rolled around, groaned, and almost twisted his face out of shape, then the umpire, sympathizing with the rest of the Willamette aggregation, allowed poor Long to take first base. Poor fellow he was terribly hurt. But in reality the ball hit his bat; any way to get to a base now-a-days.

In the next half, Sorter, our right fielder had the same experience as Long, only he didn't go through the same performance, but immediately started for first base, and umpire Long refused to allow him to go, and called a ball on him, but you noticed that Mr. Umpire was pretty sure to allow his brother to go to first, and as for letting Sorter go to first.—Oh no, that was beyond the question, he couldn't see it that way. Here is where Capt. Teabo wisely called his team off of the field. Umpire Long offered to change his decision, but what can you expect of an umpire like that.

We are done with Willamette, because we are for clean sport.

"Its the same old story with Willamette" as a Corvallis man stated.

PUPIES' ITEMS

Bessie Lahr is working in the mess.

Miss Preuss was in Salem shopping Monday.

Little Earl Dillstrom says that he is Mrs. Campbell's boy.

Martin H. Starr entered upon duty as Nightwatchman on June 8th.

Titus Williams left for his home at Klamath Agency Tuesday.

The band's Indian piece was very effective and elicited a hearty encore.

Mattie Hayden is now working in the laundry, and she likes her work well.

Martin Sampson's Indian song made a great hit on Tuesday night at the social.

Wallace Farrow is now working on the farm, and he says that he is well satisfied.

Pedro Chevio is now working in the paintshop. He says that he enjoys painting very much.

There was a great deal of fun at the sociable on Tuesday night given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A.

Eddie Curl is training every morning around the track for two-mile run. We wish him good luck this year.

Clara Hoover is now a floor girl at the McBride Hall. She likes her work well. She also enjoys sewing carpet rag every morning.

Thomas Holden is practicing how to throw the hammer so that he might take first, in the field meet to be held in Chemawa.

Mrs. Farrow, wife of the shoe and harness maker, arrived from Pendleton, Ore. Monday morning, and her many friends at the school were glad to have her back again.