A Lesson in Manners

A well known lawyer is telling a good story about himself and his effort to correct the manners of his office boy. One morning not long ago, the young auto-er of the office blew into the office and tossing his cap at a hook, exclaimed: "Say, Mr. Blank, there's a ball game down at the park today and I'm going down." Now, the attorney is not a hard-hearted man and was willing the boy should go, but thought he would teach him a lesson in good manners. "Jimmie," he said kindly, "that isn't the way to ask a favor. Now, you come over here and sit down and I'll show you how to do it."

The boy took the office chair and his employer picked up the cap and stepped outside. He then opened the door softly and, holding the cap in his hand, and said quietly to the small boy in the big chair: "Please, sir, there is a ball game at the park today. If you can spare me I would like to get away for the afternoon." In a flash the boy responded, "Why certainly, Jimmie, and here is fifty cents to pay your way in." There are no more lessons in manners in that office.—Ex.

READ THIS!

I felt sorry Wednesday when two of the McBride Hall girls brought a picture book into the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. meeting in the chapel and, while the associations were rendering their program these two girls were busy looking through the book. It hurt my feelings as I overheard the remark of some of the boys, "Look at those McBride Hall girls they could not be here!" I think we McBride Hall girls ought to be more careful about our actions hereafter.
