

Who said postals? (Lizzie Beaver.)

Ask Michel Wilson who got lost Monday evening.

Miss E. Farnsworth said the pupils' items are very interesting.

The boys' were reseated in the dining room last Monday morning.

Say boys, you must stop throwing potatoes at the girls. It shows brutality.

Nora and Hattie Mann, and Mrs. Teabo, left for Chautauqua on Wednesday.

Mr. Melson had his whole force of boys cleaning up the shop Saturday fore-noon.

Miss Luedke, and a party of girls visited all the shops on Tuesday afternoon.

Julian R. Fernandez has quit working at the mess and George Horne has taken his place.

Bessie Chiloquin enjoys the walk she takes out to the berry patch instead of the berry picking.

The boys saluted Adj. Major F. A. Loomis on his way to Portland on Tuesday morning.

Alice Williams and Robert Cameron were visitors of the seventh grade on Tuesday afternoon.

Tillie Souvigner employs all her spare time in reading good books. She will be well repaid for the time thus spent.

Lena Kirk's motto is, "Look before you leap." It was very well applied to a certain pupil in the seventh grade one day.

What's the matter with the boys. They don't make so much noise in the dining hall as they did when Mr. Bower was a way.

We are having warm weather now-a-days. At midday it is almost-unbearable, but the evenings are so cool and pleasant.

We all hope that Eugene Williams and Albert Auberry will have a good time while at Chautauqua camping with the base ball players.

The pupils of the seventh grade are sorry to have disappointed their teacher, Mrs. Campbell, Monday evening by not cleaning their school room. We are sorry to have forgotten to show "Respect, Readiness and Responsibility" while she was busy in the chapel.

Our Beautiful Banner

Beautiful banner,

Our flag of the free,—
Emblem of freedom
For you and for me.

Beautiful colors

Floating on high,—
Crimson and white
With tints of the sky.

Tossed by the breezes,
The red, white and blue
In harmony mingle—
Entrance to view.

Red is for courage

To stand for the right,—
The long-drawn-out conflict,—
Of right against might.

White is the symbol

Of all that is pure,
Of that which makes men
Better and truer.

Blue is for loyalty

Steadfast and true,—
Devotion to country
And fellow-men, too.

Beautiful symbol

In red, white and blue,
Waving to bid us
Be brave, pure and true.
