

LOCALS

Welcome mid-summer.

Farewell Commissioner Leupp.

Mrs. Doherty is the new matron in the large boys' home.

Mr. Bohlander returned Monday morning from Oklahoma.

"Responsibility is the sense of always doing the right thing, even in the dark."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray of Salem were guests of Mrs. Campbell on Sunday.

Louise Murray can not be excelled in her fine painting of various scenes and flowers.

The wagon-makers, and the painters were busy painting the bedsteads during the week.

Mr. Williams was here Tuesday visiting his children, Eugene, Alice, and Charlie Williams.

Mrs. Campbell is taking her meals at the mess during the absence of Mr. Campbell and Irene.

Ella Brewer who has just entered the choir is improving wonderfully. Best wishes to you Ella.

George Horne is the new waiter at the employes' club. George is a bright boy and will succeed if he perseveres.

Wonder what the Eastern people think of our Western weather, when the heat is 104 in the shade of the old apple tree.

Judging by the cast of characters, we expect to hear something good when Miss Dohse and her company presents their play, "The trial of Peter Sloper."

Boys and girls, let us try to get good things out of the coming vacation.

In a letter from C. Harris, who is out for a vacation at California, we learned that he is playing base-ball.

McBride Hall looks like a palace since the new carpets are down, and the girls feel proud to think that they sewed the rags with which to make such beautiful carpets.

Nora and Hattie Mann, accompanied by Mrs. Teabo left for Chautauqua Wednesday. But the beauty of it is, that they have prepared a big chicken dinner. We wonder who the lucky ones will be.

Irene and Josie Peone, accompanied by their father left for their home in Washington. They are greatly missed by many of their school-mates. They visited all the industrial departments before leaving.

Miss Dohse is going to send to Washington D. C. to get a judge to try the case of "Peter Sloper," vice Joe Dillstrom resigned. Joe is a natural artist he will confine himself hereafter to this talent.

Hon. Francis E. Leupp, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, delivered an interesting address to the students on Sunday evening. While speaking of the three "Rs," which were known to have been in use for educating the young people in the New England States, he said, "there are more good words beginning on this initial which is as follows: Respect, Readiness, and Responsibility." This address being a profitable one, and no doubt all the pupils of this school will remember Mr. Leupp as a friend of Indians as he is doing philanthropic work for the Red Race. This is what he has to say: "Give the Indian a white man's chance!" We can truly say that he is giving us more chance than what he said.
