

BREVITIES

Mrs Woods and Evelyn went to Portland last week.

Some of the boys are still working on the street car line.

Miss C. Harold of Brooks, visited Mrs. Brewer last Saturday.

The four boys that are working in the laundry this detail are No. 1 boys.

It seems good to get back to our routine work, since school has commenced.

Miss Bertha Jennings of Polk County is visiting Miss Gertrude Brewer this week.

Our supply of boys' uniforms have arrived and are in the commissary ready for issue.

Ollie Inman has been detailed as drug room girl, taking the place left by Albina Pierce, who left the school to study for a trained nurse.

Violet Berner says—I am working in the sewing room, and we are making gray uniforms for the large girls, which I think will be very pretty.

Since we have street car connection with Salem, Chemawa has many visitors at all times of the week and especially on Sunday, large crowds come out on the car to visit our school.

Miss Jones received the sad news of her father's death at his home near Lewiston, New York, on the 10th inst. Though her father has been an invalid for some time, the telegram informing Miss Jones of his death was quite unexpected and the American and her many friends at Chemawa sympathise with Miss Jones in this sad loss.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

We notice since school has taken up, our lady teachers seem to be deeply interested in carpentry.

Silas Albert and Tracy Johnson are busy putting rustic on the end of the small girl's lavatory and are doing a good job.

Grover Colby and Harry Queachpalma fixed the frame and hung the doors and put on the required fasteners for the school house.

The Domestic Science is having pretty good coffee—if the proof of the coffee is in the smell. We catch a whiff of it, and we wish it was supper time.

Last week the carpenter force was busy repairing the floor and windows of gymnasium so as to make it fit for our sociables which were commenced Friday.

Eddie Summerville and John Brice-land have been learning how to make batten doors and the frame for some to be placed at the basement of the school house.

Harry Queachpalma and Billet Lobart have just put 50 stools together for the dining hall and wired the same so now boys and girls be a little more careful in how you handle your seats you can't get them any time.

The sewing room is busy after the September hop-picking is over. The girls' winter uniforms are now being made, which will be very pretty if we succeed in getting the much needed braid with which to trim them.
