

LOCALS

Mrs. Mary Liphart is acting as assistant cook.

Little Helen Fanning is loved by all who see her.

Miss Hedeley gave a farewell party for Miss Cox on Tuesday evening.

As we go to press Webster Hudson and Martin Sampson stepped off the train at Chemawa.

Grace, Effie, Ethel, Oskie, Frank and Willie Coburn arrived from Klamath Agency today.

Irene and Josie Peone returned to school today, much improved from their vacation at home.

The pampas grass in front of the Superintendent's cottage is presenting a very beautiful appearance.

Miss Hollister, yesterday put her spare moments in varnishing the furniture of her private apartments.

Three carloads of freight arrived at the school on Thursday and was transferred to the commissary.

Lillie Fletcher and Matilda M. Lewis arrived yesterday from the north and are now Chemawa pupils.

Mr A. M. Fanning of Sheridan, Ore., visited Chemawa last Sunday, but unfortunately missed the Doctor, who spent the day in Portland.

A letter from Col. Randlett tells us that our friend, the Colonel, takes delight in a beautiful grove of trees at his home, which were planted by himself about eight years ago. The Colonel wishes to be remembered to all of his Chemawa friends.

The dressmakers are still working on the beautiful gray uniforms.

Benjamin Wilcox reported for work in the printing office Tuesday.

John Boyce entered the harness shop this year and is working right along very nicely.

The printers are glad to see Gus Bowe chop back again from his vacation as he adds one more good boy to the office.

As we go to press Mr. R. G. Henderson has returned from his hunting expedition with four deer in the party—three hunters—now the Editor expects to see the venison.

A letter from Mr. Spink at Klamath says that he is having a strenuous time getting ready for business, and that he soon will be ready to supply customers at his trader store.

We have had considerable rain this week. The whole week was showery, but there has been enough of sunshine between showers to make us realize that rain and sunshine make the grass grow.

The sixth, seventh and eight grades went to the Domestic Science room last week. Dora Gray says she misses Mrs. Cooper this week. The fifth grade have the advantage of the Domestic Science this week.

The office force have to thank Mr. George Lansing for a fine assortment of apples, which are the products of his orchard near Chemawa. The varieties are the Baldwin, the Jonathan, the Spitzenberg, Rambows, and Benton County beauties. They certainly are beauties, and the office force attest to their eating qualities, but cannot attest to their keeping qualities.