

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

George Scott is busy making his suit of clothes.

Leon Reinken cleans and presses suits as well as a first class tailor. Try him.

Albert Demers has been entered as the newest addition to the Chemawa Print Shop.

Newton Bowman has selected the blacksmith trade as his industry, and is making a good start at his trade.

Andrew Bitiles is among the plow force on the farm, and although he is not large of stature, yet he is able to handle the plow with ability.

Mr. Brewer with a large force of boys and the assistance of Mr. Hilden and Mr. Cooper is busy taking care of the improvements in the vicinity of the barns.

Joe Carrasco is now working at the dairy; he has devoted a great deal of his time to the farm and dairy, and by the time he is ready to leave school he will have a good foundation as a farmer.

The industrial boys have started to give the roses on the grounds their annual supply of dark dirt and mulch. In addition they have been busy caring for the fall plants that have to be housed.

The blacksmith boys have started under Mr. George Melson's instruction to remodel the forges in the shop. When they are completed and the new equipments added, which they hope to get, Chemawa will have one of the best equipped shops in the Service.

Mr. Westley, our gardener and his force of gardeners, is housing his fine crop of potatoes, which are as fine as Chemawa has ever had, and we have had some very fine crops. This makes the gardeners feel good, inasmuch as the farmers all around us have had failures this year.

ACADEMIC

Last Monday the 5th grade A class received their monthly average.

James Sloan conducted the arithmetic lesson and Lizzie Frazier conducted the Grammar lesson in the 7th grade on Monday. Mrs. Campbell will select different members of the class to conduct lessons occasionally.

Mrs. Campbell is reading the story of "The Indian Girl Who Led Them" to her class. It is a story of Sacajawea whom we all love and of whom we are so proud. It tells us a great many interesting things about Sacajawea that we never heard before.

Last week as the AMERICAN was going to press, the office was visited by the eighth grade pupils, who were in search of information concerning printing. Robert Cameron, who is acting in charge of the shop, instructed them concerning the mysteries of the various kinds of type and parts of the press, and tools and appliances in use in the Print Shop.

ATHLETICS

George Williams is making basket ball pants for the Yakima team.

The Yakima basket ball team is at hard practice every evening.

The Yakima boys will play the Y. M. C. A. juniors tomorrow evening a game of basket ball in the school gymnasium.

Our football boys are enjoying the new rules. They are playing very well. Last Saturday they defeated the Reform School team 44 to 0.
