

PUPILS' ITEMS

Thanksgiving is coming, Hurrah!

We all enjoyed the band concert last Sunday.

Turkeys coming, boys. Thanksgiving is coming, girls.

Annie Miller said that she was going to cut the turkey Thanksgiving.

Mable Nesbit has returned to school and brought three girls with her.

Visitors at the Green House last Sunday said we had some nice plants.

O! girls why do you use that awful thing powder? It is injurious to the skin.

The Excelsior Literary Society has a very promising membership this year

We are going to have a "Band of Mercy" like we used to have a couple of years ago.

Lizzie Beaver is learning to play on the piano. She takes much interest in her lessons.

We have in our eighth grade school room samples of sandy, clayey, peaty and loamy soil.

Laura Wilson makes a good nurse, because she takes good care of the patients at the hospital.

Thanksgiving is coming and we are all looking for the cranberries we are to have for dinner.

Nora Mann gave a taffy pull at her home last Thursday evening for a few of her friends, and a very pleasant time was had by all present.

Miss Kauffman gave a fine lecture on what she saw in China, which was enjoyed by all. She is teaching the English Class at the Willamette University.

The members of the Nonpareil Society will continue responding to roll call with quotations as before.

Friday the fifth grade wrote about table manners. I hope they will follow the rules they wrote.

The Literary Societies have organized and are expecting to produce greater results this year than ever.

We are all looking forward for Thanksgiving Day, and the nice big turkeys we hope to see and also to eat.

Last Monday night Mary Pablo and Mable Nesbit gave a party which was enjoyed by all who were present.

The girls who are going to take music lessons on the piano from Miss Gertrude Brewer are rather anxious to get started.

Things are in full blast at Chemawa now. Something doing all the time so you can see that we are not wasting time here.

The north west is not the only region that has suffered from floods. The news papers tell of damage done in the south also.

Josephine Demers is learning how to sew up her doll dress for Xmas. She is only nine years old but she is doing very nicely.

A short meeting was held in McBride Hall Sunday evening. Miss Kauffman of Willamette University lead the meeting. Her topic was "Prayer."

Some of the girls that were working in the little sewing room are now in the big sewing room and we hope they will become dressmakers soon.

The lecture Sunday evening was excellent about Japan and China as Miss Kauffman told some things that a few had never heard of before.