The second annual Territorial Fair was even more of a success than the first. The time was ideal and the attendance larger than last year. The exhibits were numerous and tastefully arranged. Several premiums were taken by the Indian school and the Camp McDowell Indians, a list of which will be given next week.—Native American

The Red Lake Agency Indians have recently been paid their annuity and stumpage payments amounting to $73,20 per capita and a number of pupils over 18 years of age have received their checks. The large part of the money has been deposited in the local banks where it will draw five per cent interest.—Review.

George W. Robbins, a day school teacher on Pine Ridge reservation, has been promoted and transferred to Green Bay Agency, Wis., as assistant superintendent.—Review.

Fred E. Smith, formerly band teacher here and typo on the Weekly Review is now holding the same at Pine Ridge Agency, and the last copy of the Oglala light is a nice clean number.—Review.

The football team have been traveling about considerably of late. After the Minneapolis game they came South to Nashville, Tenn., where they played Thursday and then back to Cincinnati for a game on Saturday. Next week at Norfolk, Va., against the University of Virginia. We hope this is a triumphal march to close the season.—The Arrow.

The AMERICAN is glad to note that it was a triumphal march.

About two hundred reservation Indians came in to Minneapolis to see the Carlisle team clean up the University boys last Saturday and their presence was manifest by the yells and warwhoops at the plays of our team. There were about fifty aborigines from Manitoba at the game, all helping Carlisle beat the pride of the west.—The Arrow.

With the fall plowing, fall planting freight and hay harvesting these, are busy days with us. You should see what the farmer boys can do when they see our hay stacks and piles of yellow pumpkins make the the farmer feel rich. Work did it. Work makes good crops and work makes good men.—Reveille.

We expect to see some fat little pigs boiled for our Thanksgiving dinner.
