ELSEWHERE IN THE SERVICE

The ladies are beginning to play tennis on the grass court near the girls' basketball ground. —Native American.

The new punching bag in front of the disciplinarian's office is developing considerable interest as well as muscle among the boys. —Native American.

The Indian agent at Yankton agency has closed a contract for two more artesian wells at Lake Andes on the Yankton reservation. The water in the lake has been failing for several years, and it is hoped to raise it to its normal level with the two new wells. —Weekly Review.

We learn through a friend, that Mr. and Mrs. Jude are now keeping house. Mr. Jude has taken up his trade as a printer. We wish them success. —Arrow.

We have had several kinds of weather here this week, Monday, warm and fair, Tuesday, rain colder, Wednesday, more rain followed by cold wave in the night, leaving everything covered with one fourth of an inch of ice, so that Tuesday skates were used on the sidewalks and streets in order to get about. — Weekly Review.

The girls in the Domestic Art Department will hold a sale of the Christmas novelties made there. December 14th from 12:30 to 5:15 P. M. Everybody invited. —Indian Leader.

Haskell Institute is one of twenty-four schools invited to make an exhibit of work at the World's Federation of Y. W. C. A. workers to be held in Tokio in April. Representatives from Y. W. associations in all parts of world will be there. More will be said later about the exhibit from Haskell. —Indian Leader.

We are glad to again welcome to Carlisle Miss Reel, Superintendent of Indian Schools who has arrived for a short visit. Our only regret is that her visit is to be a brief one. Since her last visit to Carlisle, Miss Reel has visited a large number of schools extending as far as the Pacific coast, necessitating thousands of miles of strenuous travel. —The Arrow.

We see by The Arrow that Josefa Maria has been elected Vice President of the Seniors at Carlisle.

There is a movement on foot to organize a Dramatic Club among the employees and a meeting will be held in the Club parlor on Tuesday evening next for organization. —The Arrow.
