

BREVITIES

We see by a postal that Simon Charles is now going to the Tulalip school.

Mr. George Barrett of Alaska has been visiting his children, who are at Chemawa and expects to take Grace and Georgie east with him to Minneapolis for a visit. It may be possible that they will remain in the east.

The many friends of Silas Moon were very much surprised to see him drop off the cars, to spend his Christmas vacation at Chemawa. Mr. Moon is employed in the Northern Pacific car works at Tacoma and is a credit to Chemawa and his race.

The many friends of Miss Effie Lugenbeel will be pleased to know of her marriage with Mr. Orville E. Mudge, on Wednesday evening January second, at her home in Padona, Kansas, and after February first she will make her home at Gordon, Nebraska. The American and Miss Lugenbeel's friends extend to her heartiest congratulations and best wishes.

For the last few days every car that has left Chemawa for Salem has carried its full quota of either boys or girls who have been going to Salem in order to buy their Christmas presents. The electric car company in order to handle the crowds of Chemawans that have been traveling between Chemawa and Salem have put on half hour service until after the Holidays, as they were unable to handle the number who were traveling with the hour service.

Elsewhere in the Service.

The good employe is the one who carries out the wishes or plans of his superiors;—The News.

Supervisor Charles has been granted a much needed vacation and is spending the dear old Christmas holidays with his family in Denver. We wish them a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year.—Reveille.

The choir is doing much better this year. There are several new members in it. Patience and constant practice will accomplish wonders in music as well as anything else.—The News.

Have you planned the work for the year in your departments, or are you working as the impulse directs you? Impulsive teaching is not the highest class of teaching. Lasting results can never be attained by it.—The News.

Mr. W. W. Phillips, who is with Mr. Edward S. Curtis, of Curtis studio, Seattle was a visitor at the school Wednesday. Victor U. Brown drove him to Camp McDowell, where he took some photographs and gathered material for Mr. Curtis' great work on the Indians. Mr. Curtis has spent the last eight months in Arizona, visiting all the tribes of the territory.—Native American.

A Glee Club is organized among the girls composed of 15 members. In a short time their instruments will be here and no doubt but what we will have one of the finest Glee club organizations in the Indian School Service.—Reveille.

The boys and girls have contributed over fifty dollars to help make Christmas a happier time for others on the various reservations. They are learning something of the true way to enjoy the holiday season.—Native American

Continued on page 7