

PUPPIES' ITEMS

Ex-Governor Fletcher gave a lecture upon the subject, "The Old time School," last Saturday evening. The school band played before the ex-Governor came in.—W. H.

If Mr. Cooper don't put a stop to Georgie deer eating all of the new sprouts on the rose bushes, we will not have any pretty roses this year.—M. D.

Mr. Chalcraft had the pleasure of introducing Mr. Fletcher who gave us a very nice lecture last Saturday on the subject "An Old Time School House." He spoke of many amusing things and also of the hardships the children had to go through to get any kind of an education.—H. C.

Irene Sorter's friends at Chemawa will be glad to know that she was among the number who carried off the honors in the typewriting contest in the Commercial department of Haskell.

Mr. Moran who was engineer here for some time, visited Chemawa on the 22. His friends were pleased to see him.—F. L.

The gardeners are busy pruning the fruit trees.—T. H.

To day, the boys were reseated in the dining room.—G. H.

Mr. Chalcraft went to Portland Jan. 21 and returned the same evening.—A. C.

Jemima Tendoy is making a pretty beaded purse.—M. G.

Mrs. Cox kindly took nine of the McBride Hall girls across the tressel last Sunday. We had an excellent time gathering willows.—E. I.

Mr. Joe Dillstrom has sold a number of art pictures which are very pretty.—O. I.

Lena Ashue is going to be good house keeper.—M. J.

Mr. Chalcraft left for Couer d' Alene and Yakima on Wednesday.

Maggie Jerry is doing some very beautiful bead work. She is making a bead purse.—K. H.

Mr. E. Gardener dropped in to see Mr. Darrow and Chemawa. Mr. Gardener had been an Engineer at Phoenix until about a year ago.

On account of moving the Gymnasium the fence of the deer park had to be taken down, so for the present the deer are rustivating in the old barn.

Miss Alice B. Preuss has been transferred from assistant clerk at Chemawa to Phoenix at an advanced salary. Miss Preuss's many friends at Chemawa were very sorry to see her leave for the south. What is Phoenix's gain is Chemawa's loss.

As Mr. Moran was on his way to Salem Tuesday morning he stopped off at Chemawa and came over to the power house to see some of his friends. The engineers were all glad to see him.—W. M. G.

We are all sorry to hear of Susie Moady's accident which happened in the dining hall the other day, when any one is cutting bread with a sharp knife it is not very wise to put their finger where the bread ought to be.—L. M. B.

Gov. Fletcher while here gave us the information that Gus Lucier who received his education at Chemawa, is living at St. Johns, Oregon with his wife and family. The Gov. says that he is getting along very nicely working every day at his trade, and is industrious and building up a good name for himself. Mrs. Lucier was Rose Chavis, also of Chemawa. Their many friends will be pleased to hear such good news of them.
