

The Chemawa American

Published Weekly at the United States Indian Training School.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, 25 CENTS A YEAR. CLUBS OF FIVE OR OVER 20 CENTS.

Entered at the Chemawa, Oregon, Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

The dininghall sergeant has a responsible position to fill.

The marching to and from school has very much improved.

The girls who are detailed to work for employes have many advantages over the other girls. They learn how to do housework in a small family and receive individual training.

Girls, be careful about observing the order in regard to leaving your clothes on the line on Sundays. The order that no wash was to be on the line on Sunday refers to you as well as others.

If the boys who criticize the management of the different departments would look after their own department, and do their work without being watched they would find the improvement they profess to desire.

Any body can write an item if they care to, and they can write interesting items too. In a big school like this with over 500 people on the ground there must surely be interesting events happening every week. Try to liven up our paper.

A girl who can darn a stocking neatly or patch a garment skillfully is of much more use than one who spends her time in doing the so called ART work. Painting, pyrography, etc. are accomplishments only when they are done unusually well. Learn useful work.

Miss Rose Winslow received a postal card from one of the O. A. C. girls. The following is an extract from it: "We girls all want to go to Chemawa but we don't want to play very bad for we do not expect to win from you. Nearly every one in school wants to go with us for they all like you girls so much better than any other team we girls played." —T. S.

The object for which we strive tells the story of our lives.

There are a hundred successful men for one that is contented.

Without economy none can be rich and with it none can be poor.

Better believe yourself a dunce and work away than a genius and be idle.

The moment others see that money-grabbing is your dominant passion, then the bud of your nobility perishes.

For one who can not thoroughly respect himself the high and abiding confidence is impossible.

Don'ts

DON'T forget to keep to the right, whether riding or walking

Don't elbow people, or if you do it unwillingly, excuse yourself.

Don't stare at people or laugh at their peculiarities. Don't allow a lady you escort to carry a package.

Don't bow to a lady before she recognizes you herself by a smile or bow.

Don't apologize when you shake hands with your glove on.

Don't be always touching people when addressing them.

Don't make fun of any one except in the mildest form; better avoid it altogether.—X