Are you in a trap?

Often one little hint is better than a lot of advice.

Let us profit by the experience of others.

If you want to have friends, be good, agreeable and sincere with your acquaintances.

Sometimes people are accused of being heartless because they do not wear them as ornaments.

In choosing friends be sure you get those who will have a good influence upon you or those upon whom you will have a good influence.

"Actions speak louder than words."
If you are careful with your actions, you will have no trouble in having your good intentions known.

In a letter to the AMERICAN we note that Violet Dupuis is now at Athena, Oregon.

A letter from Fred Foster states that he is working on a northern pacific engine and gets good pay. He is still living in Tacoma.

A letter received from Marysville gives the information of the death of Simon Charles of that place, last Saturday. Simon's friends at Chemawa will be sorry to hear the sad news.

Through a letter from John Benson we learn that he is doing well, and stood highest in algebra in his class. During his leisure hours he works at his trade, carpentry, for 25 cents an hour.

Between You and Me

The world is old, yet likes to laugh;
New jokes are hard to find;
A whole new editorial staff
Can't tickle every mind;
So if you meet some ancient joke
Decked out in modern guise,
Don't frown and call the thing a fake,
Just laugh—don't be too wise.

—Ex.

Now, when a man to silence clings Steadfastly day by day,
There are a lot of foolish things
A fellow doesn't say.

When he pursues his daily round
And to the line doth hew,
A lot of foolish things, I've found,
A fellow doesn't say.
And when a chaf has reached a pitch
To mind his biz, you bet, There's lots of trouble into which A fellow doesn't get.
